

WIFE IS HELD FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER

Negroes Arrested for Murder of Dr. Mohr, in Rhode Island, Claim Doctor's Wife Hired Them to Kill Husband and Woman With Him—Price of $5,000 Was to Be Paid, Say the Trio.

By Associated Press.
Providence, R. I., September 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, wife of the physician who was fatally shot Tuesday night while on an automobile trip with Miss Emily Burger, his office assistant, who was also wounded, was arrested today after three negroes had signed a written confession saying that Mrs. Mohr had hired them to kill the doctor.

She was charged with inciting to murder, but characterized the negroes' story as "absurd."

The negroes who are charged with murder are George Healis, Dr. Mohr's chauffeur; Cecil Brown, his former hostler, and Henry Spellman.

Police say Brown confessed that Mrs. Mohr, several weeks ago, promised to pay him $5,000 nine days after he should kill Dr. Mohr, and he got the others to help.

Mrs. Mohr told him to be sure to kill the doctor, he declared, and to kill Miss Burger if he could, or any other woman with the doctor.

All the negroes said Mrs. Mohr told them she was jealous of Dr. Mohr and wanted to get his estate, which she thought impossible if she sought a divorce.

She expected the estate to belong to her by the time she should pay them the $5,000.

The murder occurred at a dark place in the road, previously arranged, where the chauffeur stopped the car to allow the others to approach him from behind and do the shooting.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohr were married twelve years ago, and recently Mrs. Mohr instituted separation proceedings.

The police made public a letter addressed to a brother-in-law of Miss Burger, containing the warning that if Miss Burger "dares to enter my Newport home, she will never come out alive."

Brown's confession said Mrs. Mohr promised to put him in the parage business.

"Do not be afraid," she is declared

Unexpected Strength Is Developed By Slavs in North—Outer Forts of Grodno Fall. British Successful in Dardanelles—Turk Transports Are Sunk—Admiral Von Tirpitz's Vacation Significant.

By Associated Press.

London, September 2.—Four Turkish transports have been torpedoed by British submarines near the Gallipoli peninsula, according to a dispatch from Paris.

The British steamer Savona, of 1,100 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine, and three of her crew are missing.

Berlin reports that German forces attacking the Russian fortress of Grodno have taken the outer forts of the stronghold.

The British public has been greatly cheered by the recent heavy fighting at the Dardanelles.

General Hamilton, British commander-in-chief, claims his forces on the northern section of the line captured an important tactical point and made gains along the Australian front.

If the British now dominate the Anafarta valley region, their guns should be able to fire upon one of the main Turkish supply roads.

The Russians are developing unexpected strength in the north, where they state they are holding von Hindenburg and have gained local successes near Vilna.

CLAIM GERMANY READY FOR PEACE

Pointed Out That There Are Numerous Indications Coming to Light Giving Ground for Belief That Germans Are "Educating" Foreign People to Idea of Early Peace—Gibbons to See Wilson—Great Victory for Wilson Diplomacy.

London, Sept. 2.—There are increasing indications that the German government is endeavoring to feel out the peace situation and to let the people of the various nations with which she is at war know that peace at this time, or in the very near future, will be acceptable to Germany.

The propaganda is being carried on through numerous channels and has at this time reached such a wide scope in its cumulative effect that there remains no doubt in the minds of diplomats here that the German government is seeking to educate the minds of foreign people to the idea of an early peace.

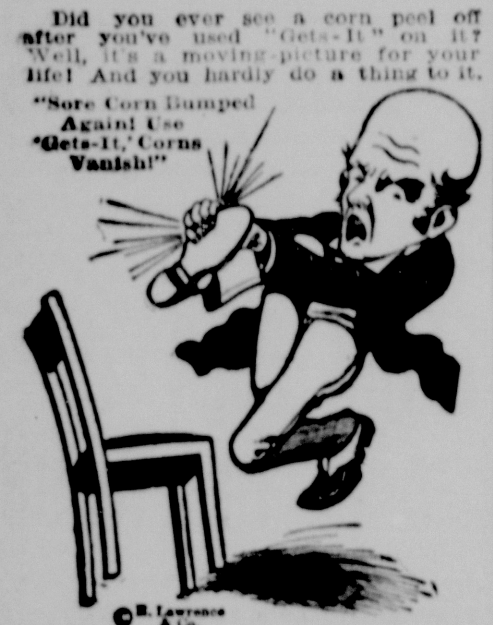

It is the German view, apparently, that this is the time to make peace because the German military successes are at their zenith.

Gibbons at White House.

Washington, Sept. 2.—President Wilson will have an important conference today with Cardinal Gibbons. It is understood that the cardinal's visit pertains to the international situation. Cable dispatches from Europe several weeks ago said that the pope was about to seek the co-operation of President Wilson in regard to a peace plan.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The menace of German submarine operations to the friendly relations between the United States and Germany apparently ended when the German ambassador informed Secretary Lansing that

"OO-y! My Corn-n!"
H-m, Use 'Gets-It'
Then You'll Have No Corns to Bump!
Your Corns Will Come "Clean Off." Quick!

Put a little "Gets-It" on. It dries at once. There's nothing to stick. Put shoes and stockings on right over it. No pain, no fuss, 48 hours—corns gone. "Gets-It" never hurts the true flesh, never makes toes sore. If you have tried almost everything else for corns, you will be much more surprised to see how quickly and easily your corns and calluses will come right off with "Gets-It." Quit limping and wrinking up your face with corn-wrinkles. Try "Gets-It" tonight on that corn, callus, wart or bunion, and you'll be glad you read this.

"Gets-It" is sold by all druggists, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Washington C. H., and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Brown's Drug Store and Frank Christopher.

It is the intention of his government not to sink passenger liners without warning and without regard for the safety of noncombatants on board.

While this communication is not in itself all-inclusive, making no mention of the treatment to be accorded nonpassenger carrying merchantmen, it is regarded here as demonstrating beyond question that Germany has yielded to the United States and that there will be no further serious trouble over this issue. As Secretary of State Lansing himself said, the ambassador's communication is interpreted as a "recognition of the fundamental principle for which President Wilson has been contending."

The German ambassador also shares the view that the question of principle, which had brought the two governments to the verge of a complete break, has been settled. In diplomatic circles generally the crisis is regarded as completely over. The task of adjusting the details of a settlement by Germany for what has occurred and providing for the future will, it is believed, be simple.

Big Diplomatic Victory.

Although various interpretations may be put upon the acceptance by Germany of the principle for which the United States has been contending, her action undoubtedly will be regarded by the world as a great diplomatic victory for the United States. In official circles here and in diplomatic quarters as well, it is held that the success of this government with Germany on the submarine issue will greatly strengthen the position of the United States in the eyes of the world, particularly in reference to the

INVASION IS EXPECTED BY TOWNS ON BORDER

Mexicans Would Avenge the Death of Orozco.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 2.—All towns and ranches along the Mexican border are in arms waiting for what they believe will be a general invasion by Mexicans as a result of the killing of General Orozco. Mercedes, Harlingen, Del Rio and a score of smaller towns are closely guarded by armed citizens and soldiers. Ranches all over the border section are guarded by cowboys and rangers, heavily armed.

Several suspicious Mexicans were arrested in the border country, but it is believed that only one Mexican was killed. At various points along the Rio Grande bands of armed Mexicans have been seen. They were mounted and were galloping along as if looking for order to cross into Texas.

Colonel Omar Bunday, temporarily

war in Europe. It is admitted that it will go far toward making President Wilson available as a peacemaker in the European struggle.

Many important results will flow from the removal of the danger of a break with Germany. One of the first will be the renewal of efforts to obtain from Great Britain a larger measure of respect for the rights of American trade. In official quarters, particularly, emphasis is laid on the fact that the president's hands are now freed and that he can proceed to demand observance of the law from Great Britain without fear that he will become involved in a dangerous situation as regards Germany.

The political importance attached to the latest developments by members of the administration can hardly be overestimated. They feel that Germany's action has absolutely vindicated President Wilson's course in dealing with Germany. Mr. Wilson, officials assert, can now go before the country and show that he stood firmly for American rights, won his point and got the country out of trouble.

Another Effect.

Another effect likely to come from the elimination of the fear of a break with Germany is increased activity by those opposing, for political or other reasons, large increase in appropriations for national defense. The adjustment of the issue with Germany will be cited by the small army and navy adherents as proof that the United States can maintain its rights without the use of military forces and that there is no warrant or occasion for plunging into elaborate preparations for a war.

While Germany's action and change of attitude is regarded by the administration as bringing within close view the end of the submarine operations, the Washington officials are still maintaining their attitude of waiting for Germany to move further and make unmistakably clear, in formal and official manner, its reply to the demands of the United States.

The next move by Germany is expected to be a statement regarding the Arabic incident.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff's note to Secretary Lansing reads: "With reference to our conversation of this morning, I beg to inform you that my instructions concerning our answer to your last Lusitania note contains the following passage: 'Liners will not be sunk by our submarines without warning and without safety of the lives of noncombatants,' provided that the liners do not try to escape or offer resistance.' Although I know that you do not wish to discuss the Lusitania question until the Arabic incident has been definitely and satisfactorily settled, I desire to inform you of the above because this policy of my government was decided on before the Arabic incident occurred. I have no objection to your making any use you may please of the above information."

Pittsburgh, Sept. 2.—True to his promise made a few days before he left for the Pacific coast, Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, through his attorneys filed a suit for absolute divorce against Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, naming as correspondent John Francis of New York. The petition alleges that Evelyn was guilty of improper conduct with Francis in December, 1909, and January, 1910, in New York city, and at other times and places. In addition to the charges of misconduct concerning Evelyn and John Francis, the only other charge it contains is that of desertion. Thaw alleging that Evelyn deserted him in 1910. There is no mention in the petition of "Pompom," Evelyn's child.

Evelyn kept the baby's birth secret for some time and the child was several months old before it became generally known that he had been born. Subsequently she gave out a statement asserting that Harry was the father of the child and that she was his mother. This Thaw has publicly denied.

John Francis, correspondent in the Thaw case, is thirty-eight and well known in the night life of New York. He was a reporter when Thaw shot Stanford White and was assigned to cover the murder for his paper. He had known Mrs. Thaw before the shooting, and in the course of his work met her frequently. In this way he came to know her well.

The Death of Orozco

Pascual Orozco, who, during the last half dozen years, has been one of the numerous Mexicans acting as a revolutionary leader, was killed Tuesday in a running fight which occurred between a band of Mexican bandits headed by himself and a posse of cowboys in Culbertson county, Texas.

The career of Orozco has been a stormy and eventful one. Scores of times during his life Orozco has faced death and each time escaped unscathed only to meet an ignominious death while engaged in leading a robber raid.

Tall, angular, vicious looking, uncouth and illiterate, there was withal a native force about that peculiar man which marked him as an individual different from his fellows and gave strong proof, that beneath the unattractive appearance there lurked that indefinable something which approaches, even if it fails to reach, real greatness.

Perhaps if Orozco had been afforded better advantages in youth both in the way of home training and early associates he would have lived a different life and met a more honorable death.

In earlier life he was a driver of mule teams and into his keeping was given great quantities of bullion—gold, silver and copper—to be transported from the mines of interior Mexico to the smelters.

It was Orozco's duty to guide and protect those trains through the bandit infested districts of the mountain country. He dealt with ruffians and held back ruffians and grew to be a ruffian himself. Later on he became an ally and supporter of Madero in the revolution against Diaz.

He proved himself at all times sufficient to the demands made upon him and rose equal to every occasion. In the councils of state in Mexico City, following the success of the Madero revolution, he was able to participate. In the uprising against Madero the veneer of respectability did not prove sufficient armor to protect him from the temptations which Mexican warfare offered and he took up arms against his former chief. The alliance with Huerta was but a sham, illy disguising the effort to gratify a brutal desire to rob and murder, which had been aroused by the leadership of an "army" in the Madero revolution.

The descent was rapid. From a plunderer clothed with the authority of war he soon became an out and out bandit with but scant pretense of alliance with any respectable movement and never, after the end of the Madero regime, with any recognized authority.

From mule driver to general of an army the associate and intimate of statesmen, the representative of a government meeting with the business men of El Paso and by them banqueted and honored and down again to robber outlaw to meet death in a fight with civil authorities on foreign soil, is the story of a career which has few duplicates indeed in real life.

Had Orozco met death on the field of battle, fighting with Madero for freedom from the tyranny of Diaz, his career, his rise to fame and success, might have warranted history in recording him quite a man. But death was delayed until the brute instincts again secured the mastery.

Orozco died while engaged in the most disgraceful acts of his checkered career.

A disturbing element in Mexico, an obstacle to the work of establishing peace and order and observance of law in Mexico, was eliminated when the bullet fired from the revolver of a Texas cowboy brought the remarkable life of Orozco to its close.

The State Institution

The people of Ohio sincerely hope that the State Board of Administration—that board which has control and management of all state institutions, including those which the generous public of Ohio have established and maintain for the benefit of the unfortunate—will escape being drawn into the whirlpool of politics and the scramble for place that has already engulfed so many officials and departments of state.

The people hailed the establishment of the state board of Administration and the consequent removal of the penal and charitable institutions of state from the grasp of petty place hunting politicians as the dawn of a better day—as the coming of that time when public officials would not regard those institutions, builded with the money of the people to house and care for the unfortunates, as places to be given into the keeping of politicians to enable them to reap a reward for services rendered.

Fearful that the demand for place is imperiling those institutions and threatening to again open them up to the spoils system the people of Ohio are hoping that the Board of Administration will remain firm in its refusal to allow politics and the claims of politicians to control them and that the governor of the state, instead of inaugurating a movement for the removal of that board, for so doing will compliment the members and, in unmistakable language, express a determination to join in the work of keeping state institutions out of politics.

In the management of state institutions the public service has been raised to a high level and it should be kept there.

Poetry For Today

GOOD-BY SUMMER.
Farewell, Summer, cold and bleak,
With thy heavens spring a leak!
Gone for aye thy wintry days,
With their frigid arctic ways—
Back into thy polar nest
Speed thee onward, there to rest
With thy fog, and sleet, and frost,
And thy spirit tempest-tost!

Who designed thee none may know
With thy January glow;
Whence was born thy antic scheme
Only wizardly may dream;
Wherefore thy December touch,
Wherefore thy November clutch,
Wherefore all thy flood and hail,
No mere mortal may unveil.

Possibly thou wast a jest
Of some Pow'r by wars distressed,
Sent to thrill a weeping earth
With a rude Homeric mirth—
But a sad joke, if at all—
Summer aping, Winter, Fall,
Is a bit of empty chaff
Quite unworthy of the laugh.

Or perhaps, some Cubist weight
Hath convinced thee on some night
When the gods were occupied
With Bellona's crimson tide,
Changed thee from the silky thing
All true poets used to sing,
And for sunshine, zephyrs sweet,
Given us but storm and sleet.

Whence and wherefore all thy stress
Finite mind can never guess;
But 'tis certain, high or low,
Glad are we to see thee go;
And we hope till thou are sane—
Thou wilt not return again—
Changeling Child of Flim and Flam,
Vale ad Aeternum!

There is a time in every man's life when he wishes his hair would quit growing and give his whiskers a chance, but later on he wishes his whiskers would quit growing and give his hair a chance.

We will say this much for the girls: The ones who use peroxide are not the only light headed girls in the world.

The women do not use up all the safety pins. The married men have to have something to take the place of buttons.

The old fashioned woman who used to adapt her clothes to her age now has a daughter who adapts her age to her clothes.

Never loaf around where other people are busy. They may not say anything while you are there, but you are going to get a good cussing as soon as you close the door behind you.

Never judge by appearances. A man isn't always in mourning when he is wearing black rimmed finger nails.

Once in awhile you will see a girl who makes you doubt the fact that there are more than 6,000 steam laundries in the United States.

There are all sorts of people in the world, including the man who imagines that whiskers make him look dignified.

It would help some if more of the chauffeurs had horse sense.

The man who is so fussy that he is afraid that there are germs on door-knobs and on the straps in the street cars is usually the same fellow who imagines that free lunch forks are antiseptic.

Tough luck. Just as the girls were getting so they could scratch matches on the backs of the tight skirts the fashion changes and the skirts are made so full that you can walk in them.

Lots of lads who thought they were marrying heiresses are now working hard to support their families.

MUSIC LANGUAGE.
Single Notes Are Its Letters, Groups of Notes Its Words.

As you know, the single notes are the letters of the music language. Groups of notes are the words of the music language. In a spoken language the letters are always sounded one after the other. In the music language they are sometimes sounded one after the other and sometimes simultaneously.

This fact explains two important divisions of music—namely, melody and harmony. In a general way, melody consists of single tones heard one after the other; combinations of tones heard simultaneously are called harmony. A word of the music language may consist of several tones in succession, like a word of the spoken language, which consists of several letters in succession.

On the other hand, a word of the music language may consist of several tones heard simultaneously, which is impossible in language. Some of the most important words of the music language are those which are used in both these ways, and it is one of the great charms of music that its words can be heard in these two ways.—Dr. Rudolf von Liebig in Woman's World.

TURN OF THE WORM.
Her Claim to Fame Put All Her Rivals Out of the Running.

The superintendent of a charitable institution for the aged poor in a certain district says that there is no topic more pleasing to some old women than the discussion of their "better days," when they were the fortunate possessors of "everything heart could wish for," as they are apt to express it.

One old lady in the institution mentioned never tired of describing the finery she had when she was a bride. Another boasted of having once owned a "gold band china tea set" and six solid silver teaspoons, while a third dwelt at length on the elegance of a flowered silk gown and satin parasol with fringe fifteen inches long.

One poor old lady stood this sort of talk as long as she could. Then she calmly interrupted with:

"Well, I never had no china tea things, nor no silk gowns, nor embroidered petticoats, nor openwork stockings, nor gold earrings, nor nothing o' that sort, but I have had four husbands, an' I'd like to know whether any of you can beat that."—Exchange.

Victor Hugo's Modesty.
It is related that upon one occasion Victor Hugo, the great French writer, received a letter bearing an address of a single line, "To Our Supreme Poet." Hugo took the letter to Lamartine.

"Here, my dear friend," he said, "is a letter which certainly is intended for you."

After a long and extremely courteous discussion, which resolved itself into a combat of flattery, it occurred to them to break the seal, which they did, and read, "My dear Alfred." The letter was from Alfred de Musset and came from Alexander Dumas. Lamartine smiled, but Hugo, who did not relish the turn of affairs, made no comment. Some time later Clovis Hugues asked the author of "Hernani," "Sir, who, in your opinion, is the premier poet of our time?" and received the following reply:

"The second is M. Lamartine, and the third is M. de Musset."

How It's Done.
When Abraham Lincoln sat book in hand day after day under the tree, moving round it as the shadow crossed, absorbed in mastering his tasks; when James Garfield rang the bell at Hiram institute on the very stroke of the hour and swept the schoolroom as faithfully as he mastered his Greek lesson; when Ulysses Grant, sent with his team to meet some men who came to load his cart with logs and, finding no men, loaded the cart with his own boy's strength, they showed in the conscientious performance of duty the qualities which were to raise them to become kings of men.—Canon Farrar's

BURGLAR VISITS LEWIS HOME FOR FOURTH TIME

For the fourth time during the past few weeks, a burglar visited the home of C. W. Lewis on Columbus avenue, and made his escape with a small amount of money and the key to the front door, leaving untouched silverware and other valuables which were exposed and which the thief could have carried off very easily, but would have experienced difficulty in getting rid of the foot and probably been captured in the act.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are not aware at what time the burglary occurred, but Thursday morning the front door key was missing, and a further search revealed the fact that a purse containing a small sum of money, was gone. The purse, minus the change, was later picked up in the back yard.

A drawer in the buffet, containing silverware, had been removed, but the silverware was untouched.

The series of burglaries at the Lewis home has been of a puzzling nature, but it is believed that the burglar is someone well acquainted with the premises, and probably under 21 years of age.

The fact that the rascal now has the front door key has added to the apprehension of the family, and the lock will probably be changed at once in order to frustrate a further pilfering of the premises.

SPECIAL SERVICES AND 4TH QUARTERLY CONFERENCE TONIGHT

An important meeting will be held at Grace M. E. church tonight beginning promptly at 7:30. Short devotional services will first be held with Dr. J. C. Jackson, District Superintendent, presiding, and following the devotional services the election of a lay delegate to the Annual Conference in Columbus Wednesday of next week, will take place.

In the election of the delegate every member of the church 21 years or older, can and is expected to vote.

Following the selection of the delegate the Fourth Quarterly Conference will be held, with Dr. Jackson presiding.

At the conference all business matters for the fiscal year will be closed up and the church will be ready to open the next year.

DEPUTY SHERIFF BLUE QUITS JOB

Deputy Sheriff Blue, who was employed to teach in the Milledgeville schools, has left the Sheriff's office to take up his new duties.

Edwin Jones, son of Sheriff Jones, has been appointed by Mr. Jones to the position of clerk, or office deputy, while Jesse Ellis, an employee of the Dahl-Millikan Company, will be at the county jail each night and will also aid Sheriff Jones at other times when his services are in demand.

KENNEDY'S ENGINE KILLS ANOTHER MAN

The west bound passenger train on the Pennsylvania railroad killed Reuben H. Cupp, in Wayne township, Pickaway county, Wednesday morning, and Engineer Kennedy, who was at the throttle when the train struck and killed Thomas Ralston near this city two weeks ago, was on the engine which killed Cupp.

Mr. Cupp was in the act of crossing the track in an automobile when the train struck him. Death was almost instantaneous.

CONCERT POSTPONED LAST OF THE SERIES

The regular weekly concert by Price's Premier Band of Greenfield, will not be given in Greenfield tonight, but will be given one week from tonight and is the last of the series this season.

During the summer a large number of persons from this city have attended the concerts and enjoyed the splendid music furnished by this popular organization.

The concert this week was postponed on account of the dedication of Greenfield's magnificent new High school building.

GOVERNOR WILLIS PASSES THROUGH; EATS SANDWICH

Governor Willis passed through the city about six o'clock Wednesday evening, returning to Columbus by automobile from Greenfield where he spoke at the dedication of the new High school building.

Governor Willis stopped at the Manhattan restaurant where he purchased a sandwich for himself and another for Mrs. Willis. As he sat at the counter munching a sandwich Mr. Frank Christopher walked in. "Hello, Christopher!" greeted the governor as he reached out to shake hands. He never forgets a face or name, it is said.

After a few moments' chat with Mr. Christopher he walked out to the waiting automobile, gave Mrs. Willis a sandwich, and while she ate the sandwich the governor continued his chat.

CLOSING SESSION OF CONVENTION

The 38th Annual Convention of the county W. C. T. U. closed an interesting and profitable meeting with the session Wednesday afternoon.

The various unions of the county were well represented and the reports of the superintendents highly encouraging.

Mrs. Alice Taggart, county president, made a practical talk along the line of the great work awaiting the organization and its possibilities for good, that met with the hearty endorsement of every one who heard it.

Mrs. Snodgrass, state lecturer, delivered a short address on "Purity," a subject handled ably from the speaker's extensive experience and personal work.

The convention was felt to be an incentive towards the coming effort to make Ohio a dry state.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MONTHLY SESSION

The September meeting of the C. W. B. M. of the Christian church was held in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance.

There was a delightful program as follows:

A beautiful piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Herbert Campbell; a vocal solo by Miss Jennie Williams; a letter from the college of missions was read by Mrs. Nina Miller; a very interesting talk on training of children was given by Mrs. Wm. Blackwell.

This being the election of officers the following were elected for the coming year:

Mrs. John Van Gundy, president; Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Blackwell, 2nd vice-president.

Mrs. Nina Miller, Secretary; Mrs. Maude Perry, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. Elden Irvin, Treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Patten, Librarian; Mrs. Clark Mershon, Assistant Librarian; Miss Naomi Buckley, President of the Junior Society; Miss Jennie Williams, assistant.

The purple and white color scheme was carried out effectively, those being the colors of the auxiliary. Six tables were spread which were decorated in purple and white asters.

Very dainty refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, Mrs. H. C. Conwell, Mrs. Carson Maddox, Mrs. Loren Perry.

America's most gorgeously endowed stage beauty, in

"THE GARDEN OF LIES"

By Justus Miles Forman. A sentimental romance in 5 acts Miss Cowl needs no introduction as an actress as she will be remembered as the leading woman in 'WITHIN THE LAW' 'THE GAMBLERS' and 'THE EASIEST WAY,' all great legitimate successes. Jane Cowl is the newest acquisition to the screen and her debut in 'THE GARDEN OF LIES' gives her a splendid chance to display her rare beauty. Justus Miles Forman, the author of the play, met death along side of the late Chas. Frohman on the ill-fated steamer Lusitania.

FALL FESTIVAL DRAWS CROWDS

The gayest place in Washington these nights is the Fall Festival grounds on the Hegler lot on South Main street. The Odd Fellows are meeting with great success in their engagement of the Fareri Shows, claimed to be the largest carnival shows in the world, with the famous Col. Francis Fareri trained wild animals, and numerous other carnival attractions.

The grounds blaze with light and the scene is brilliant and picturesque with the center of all the gayly decked merry-go-round and its alluring music.

Bands play at both ends of the grounds and the crowds that gathered found amusement galore.

Of course the big attraction was the Fareri trained wild animals in the tent with the gorgeous front and the band-organ. This animal show deserves to be classed as foremost in its line. The animals are splendid specimens and under marvelous control.

The Kangaroo boxing match is a decided novelty in animal exhibitions and a feature that alone is worth the admission.

The three animal trainers, Mlle. Andrea, Capt. Guillaume Richardo and Herman Weeden gave thrilling exhibitions with lions, tigers, leopards, and pumas, each one characterized by distinctive work.

Each night sees the grounds more and more crowded and the carnival is decidedly a popular place of meeting.

STATION PLANS ARE ON THE WAY

Some 21 members of the Dutch Treat Club assembled for the regular noonday luncheon, Thursday, and after the luncheon it was announced that the B. & O. had communicated with Mr. Worthington to the effect that plans for the new union depot would be in the hands of Mayor Coffey and the club within two or three days.

Other matters were discussed, but no business of importance was transacted.

In Social Circles

A charming affair of the week in the younger set was an informal tea given by Miss Evelyn Ross, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Miss Nina Sawyer of Marysville, O., and Miss Edith Ranch, of Cincinnati, the guest of the Misses Pine.

The rooms, most inviting in their floral adornment of white asters and greenery, gracefully arranged in baskets and vases and flood of rare summer sunshine, held a gay coterie of girls with a sprinkling of matrons between the hours of four and six.

Miss Ross received in a clinging gown of white crepe de chine, with lace garniture.

Miss Sawyer was wearing white net over taffeta, with deep rose mesaline girdle.

Miss Rauch's gown was an elaborate affair of white satin, draped in net, with relief of Peacock green.

Assisting in the cordial hospitality of the afternoon were Mrs. Frederick E. Ross, Misses Pauline and Lucy Edna Pine, Jane Saxton and Ruth Smith.

Mrs. Hugh Weir of New York, was an out of town guest.

Miss Mildred Taylor celebrated her fifteenth birthday with an exceedingly pretty party, Wednesday evening at her home on Fayette street.

A white and gold color scheme was artistically carried out in the decorations and in the dainty summer refreshment served.

The evening was delightfully spent in a variety of amusements, of which a "Traveler's contest" was unique. Miss Laura DeWees won the first prize; Miss Ruth Cissna the second and Miss Gertrude Wise of Parkersburg, W. Va., the consolation.

The young hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sisters, Misses Prue and Anna Taylor.

The guests included Mary Murphy, Ruth Cissna, Eleanor McClain, Aline Williams, Prue Anna Deheart, Alice Parrett, Elsie Forman, Mary Persinger, Sarah Dewees, Margaret Schneider, Elizabeth Hendryx, Elizabeth Davis, Wanda May Norris, Genevieve Price, Lucile Boyer, Martha Nelson, Rosalie Slagle, Dorothy Dill, Laura Helen DeWees, Marion Christopher, Lorie King, Freda Barger, Opal Stanforth and Gertrude Green. Miss Gertrude Wise, of Parkersburg, W. Va., was an out of town guest.

The September meeting of Grace church W. F. M. S. was held at the parsonage, Mrs. Ross hostess, with the officers as assistant hostesses. It was a good meeting with eighteen members present and much interest and enthusiasm manifested in regard to various plans and devices for the next year's work concerning the best interest of the society and the jubilee.

It being annual election of officers and mite box opening there was no program. The same officers were re-elected for the coming year with the exception of two new members being placed on committee program.

Mrs. Alice Adams gave a very interesting and impressive talk on what she gleaned on missionary work from missionaries at the camp meeting at Mt. Vernon. The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. S. Hodson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCoy, Mr. S. O. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Orris Hegler motored to Columbus for the fair Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mallow, Miss Edna Fenner and Dr. Loring Brock made up a motoring party at the state fair Wednesday.

Tomb of Ezra. Doubt has often been expressed as to whether the tomb of Ezra, on the Tigris, now in British possession, really holds the remains of the great Hebrew prophet, for Josephus says he was buried in Jerusalem. The Talmud, however, states that Ezra died at Zanzura, a town on the Tigris, when on his way from Jerusalem to Susa to plead the cause of the captive Hebrews; so the authenticity of the tomb is not improbable.—Pall Mall Gazette.

DRIVE RUSSIANS OUT OF GALICIA

Austrians Announce Capture of Important Stronghold.

SEIZE THE FORTRESS OF LUTSK

Object of the Teutons to Separate the Russian Army Operating in Galicia From the Forces Operating to the North—Russians Holding Their Own on the Rest of the Front.—Operations in France.

London, Sept. 2.—It was officially announced at Vienna that the fortress of Lutsk, which with those of Dubno and Rovno forms a fortified triangle on Russian territory just north of the Galician frontier, has been captured by Austrians. It is in this direction that the Austro-German offensive has been the most aggressive during the past few days, the object being to separate the Russian army which has been retreating through the Pripiet marshes from that operating in Galicia.

The capture of Lutsk is likely to compel the Russians to evacuate that part of Galicia held by them; otherwise their flank would be seriously threatened.

Along the rest of the front, except in the center, where the Austro-Germans continue to make a slow advance, the Russians appear to be holding their own. They have thus far prevented the Germans from crossing the Dvina at Friedrichstadt, where a battle has been in progress for several days; they have arrested the German offensive between that point and the Gulf of Riga, and are still holding their ground between Kovno and Vilna and before Grodno, although the Germans have approached the outer positions of Grodno fortress.

Rains Would Aid Russ.

In the opinion of military writers here, the Russians now stand a good chance of winning the race for time. Within a few weeks the autumn rains will begin, and it is pointed out, unless they can succeed in gaining a decisive result before that time, the Austro-Germans can hardly hope to smash the Russian armies before, under cover of the long winter, they are reformed and re-equipped. At present the Austro-Germans are straining every nerve to win this decision, but they have been greatly delayed by the intensity of the Russian counter attacks and the stubbornness with which the Russian troops hold the

The Russian losses, of course, have been enormous. According to Berlin, the Russians have lost 1,000,000 in prisoners since May 2, the date on which the drive began in western Galicia, while during August alone the captures included more than 250,000 men and 2,300 cannon. The Austro-German losses, too, have been heavy in killed and wounded, while the strain on the troops has been terrific.

For a week the French have been pouring an avalanche of shells into the German lines in the west. It is not believed that this ammunition would be used simply for the purpose of damaging the German trenches, and therefore an early general offensive is looked for.

The fall of Lutsk is, if anything, more of a surprise than the speedy capitulation of Brest-Litovsk. It was a fortress of considerable strength and was in every respect modern. The German advance upon this position was one of the speediest of the war, which leads to the conclusion that the Russians probably dismantled the guns and prepared for retreat long before the German guns were within range.

MURPHY SUFFERS REVERSE

New York, Sept. 2.—Charles F. Murphy and Big Bill Edwards went down to defeat together at a meeting of the Tammany Hall executive committee. The designation for sheriff, worth $60,000 a year for two years, if he is elected in November, went to Alfred E. Smith, minority leader of the assembly, instead of to Princeton's mammoth ex-football captain, the choice of Mr. Murphy. Mr. Murphy found only a handful of his men with him. Judge Edward Swann of general sessions was named for district attorney.

Danger Signals of Tuberculosis

In a previous article, it was stated that nearly everybody has tuberculosis at some time or other during his lifetime. Autopsies on people have shown that hardly a single human being reaches mature life without a scar on his lungs or elsewhere showing where tuberculosis had attacked him, and he, by his normal resistance and vitality, had warded off the continuation of the attack.

Because tuberculosis is so widespread, every man, woman and child should give the most careful attention to those signs of the disease which point out danger. The treacherous disease germs may enter the body in early childhood and may not cause any serious trouble for ten or fifteen years. Then, all of a sudden, when the body is weakened by overwork, worry, sickness, or bad living and working conditions, these sleeping germs wake up and become active in the destruction of the lungs or other organs. The working man or woman, therefore, cannot be too careful in the safeguarding of health and in watching out for those symptoms which indicate that the disease of tuberculosis is actually present. What, then, are some of the danger signals and what should be done about them?

(1) First of all, there is a cough that hangs on and will not clear up. If it lasts for a month or longer, it is a red light, a danger signal, which you cannot afford to ignore. It may start with wet feet or some other insignificant circumstance, but no matter how the cough started, if it does not go away, see your doctor at once. Colds frequently weaken the bodily tone and resistance, so that it is easy for the lurking germs to get a foothold.

(2) Loss of weight, accompanied by a loss of appetite, and a certain amount of "stomach trouble" is another danger signal, which you must not pass unheeded. Sometimes loss of weight may come from some other cause than tuberculosis, but it pays to be on your guard. You may not have a cough, and you may experience very little trouble except a sort of chronic weariness. You ought to know what your normal weight should be. If you begin to lose five, ten or more pounds without any apparent reason, look for sound medical advice at once. Sometimes with loss of weight goes a loss of appetite, and trouble with bowels and stomach, even running to diarrhea. Whether you are losing much weight or not, look out for this danger signal. It is a warning that something is wrong.

(3) Then there is that run-down, all-the-time-tired feeling. Most people have days when they feel unusually tired, for some reason or other. Such an occasional period of "spring fever" or "lazy liver" may not be at all dangerous, but when every day for two or three weeks you hate to get up and dread to do anything but lie around and be lazy, there is danger ahead. This is Nature's warning to you that some enemy inside your body is sapping your vitality. Don't ignore the warning signal!

(4) Anyone of the three symptoms just mentioned may occur singly or all of them may come at one time. When, to any or all, there is added a fever in the late afternoon or during the night, accompanied possibly by sweats, beware of this danger signal. It is a bright red flag which Nature waves before you, cautioning you to give immediate heed. Anyone's temperature may rise at times, some people's more easily than others. But when for a week every afternoon about four or five o'clock you've felt feverish, or when night after night you wake up in a dripping sweat, you may rest assured that there is nothing normal about that. Go to your doctor at once and tell him about it. You may have no cough and no other sign of disease, and this may be the only warning you'll get. Give heed to it at once.

(5) If you have a cough and in spitting you find streaks of blood in your sputum, you may rest assured that something is wrong. It may not be a direct sign of tuberculosis, but whatever it is, you should attend to it at once. You cannot afford to waste time putting it off. Nature may give you that more emphatic warning of the presence of tuberculosis, a hemorrhage of the lungs, if so, don't be scared unduly. It is a danger signal, and if you heed it, you may be safe.

There are other danger signals, some which you can see and some which only a trained physician can detect. Your safety lies in getting medical attention as early as possible. Tuberculosis can be cured if it is discovered in time. The time to discover it is when the first symptoms show themselves. Don't take chances with Death. You'll lose every time.

Go to a good doctor, if you notice any of these danger signals, and insist that he examine you stripped to the waist. If you can't afford a doctor, go to a free clinic and be examined. It may cost a few dollars to be examined, but it may save you hundreds of dollars, untold suffering, and possibly your life and that of your wife and family.

"SAFETY FIRST" is a motto that applies to tuberculosis, especially when it is first showing itself.

FOOLED HIMSELF.

Did It Deliberately, Too, and Seemed to Enjoy It.

Old Josh Lee was a miser, and he breakfasted every morning on oatmeal. To save fuel he cooked his week's supply of oatmeal on Sundays. This supply by the time Saturday came round was pretty stiff and tough and hard to down.

One Saturday morning old Josh found his oatmeal particularly unappetizing. It had a crust on it like iron. He took a mouthful of the cold, stiff mixture; then he half rose, thinking he'd have to cook himself some eggs.

But he hated to give in. He hated to waste that oatmeal. So he took out the whisky bottle, poured a generous glass, and, setting it before his plate, he said:

"Now, Josh, if you eat that oatmeal you'll get this whisky; if you don't you won't."

The oatmeal was hard to consume, but Josh, with his eye on the whisky, managed it. Then when the last spoonful was gone he grinned broadly, poured the whisky back into the bottle again and said:

"Josh, my son, I fooled you that time, you old idiot!"—Exchange.

NERVE IN GOLF.

Vardon's Shot That Won a Match That Was Considered Lost.

In the American Magazine Jerome D. Travers writes on Vardon, whom he calls the greatest golfer. One year Vardon played over a hundred grilling matches over the longest and toughest British courses and averaged 74 for the season. In the following extract Travers describes what he considers Vardon's best shot:

"Except with the putter there seems to be no shot in golf beyond Vardon's magic. I will explain with one striking example just what I mean: In one of his championship battles he had come to the seventeenth hole at a tie with one of his rivals for the top. His drive here traveled a trifle farther than he had calculated and found a deep rut in a road crossing the course. His opponent, playing first, was nicely on the green in two for a sure four. It seemed that Vardon was beaten to a certainty. His ball was six inches below the top of the ground in a deep, narrow rut. And the green was 140 yards away.

"Vardon took out a heavy niblick and, in place of playing to one side to be sure to get out, took his stance in the direction of the pin and brought his club down with terrific force. To the wonder of the big gallery, the ball rose almost straight in the air and then, with the forward spin imparted, sailed on to within ten feet of the cup. The other man got his four, but Vardon got his three, winning a match that had been practically lost."

Filipinos and Chickens.

The fact that no Filipino of the common class regards himself equipped for living without at least one male chicken explains why the islands, although raising so many chickens, still import millions of dozens of eggs. As in all cockfighting countries, the fighting bird in the Philippines is a personal pet which the owner carries about during practically every idle moment of the day and on which he lavishes enough care to raise many laying hens. Duck eggs are rarely found in the market except as "balutes"—that is, eggs on the point of hatching, boiled, a form in which eggs are commonly eaten by the Filipinos. They are sold for lunches at all railway stations and at other points where crowds gather.—Argonaut.

ROOTS OUT CORNS BY PENETRATION

Dr. Hunt Finds the Quick, Clean, Painless, Effective Way. ONLY 10c.

Cutting a corn never cured it. Caustic liquids only invite blood poisoning, and stimulate further corn growth. Corn pads are bulky and squeeze the toes. Salves are greasy. But the one way that does cure corns of all kinds and sizes is the penetration way, discovered by Dr. Hunt, of Sidney, Ohio, a medical man who has spent a lifetime in the development of this new principle of curing corns by penetration.

Dr. Hunt's New Corn Cure comes in the form of clean, handy plaster. Six plasters in a box. Trim plaster size of corn and apply. Instantly the pain is eased. All you feel is the soothing effect. The plaster does not bulk up like clumsy pads.

Now see what happens: In two days the corn has become so thoroughly penetrated that it can be easily and quite painlessly lifted out, root, branch and all.

Remember, this principle is new. It is different from anything else offered as a permanent cure for stubborn corns. And a box full costs only ten cents. Money back if not delighted. Sold by druggists and shoe dealers everywhere. Or, send ten cents in stamps to American Chemical Company, Sidney, Ohio.

SHIPYARD SECRETS.

Precautions Taken to Guard Them by the English Officials.

Every British shipyard that builds for the navy must take great precautions that none of the secrets entrusted to its care shall leak out. Detectives watch all visitors and keep the workmen under observation also. Plain clothes officers guard every entrance, and nobody is allowed to bring in even a small parcel unless it is first examined, for fear that it may conceal a camera. At one of the big construction yards one man in every two dozen is thoroughly searched from head to foot each night on leaving. All the draftsmen engaged on the drawings of a new warship are sworn to secrecy, and the plans are invariably kept under lock and key when not in use.

These precautions have brought many suspicious circumstances to light. One night when a new cruiser was about to undergo her trials two men crept aboard as she lay at anchor. They were captured and handed over to the police. Shortly afterward, on the day of her trial, the chief engineer thought it would be advisable to have another look at the interior of the turbines before steaming to make certain that no rubbish had got inside to injure the delicate turbine blades. But worse than rubbish was found. When the turbines were opened two heavy steel chisels were discovered inside. If the machinery had been started the damage would have taken months to repair.—Pearson's Weekly.

It is said to be a fact easily demonstrated or proved by one who has access to a zoological collection that the web of the foot of tigers of the above named species is inhabited by a bloodsucking insect about the size of a common flea which is a perfect counterpart of a tiger in every particular, shape, claws, tail and stripes included.

CARESS OF AXE FOR DEMOCRATS

Republicans Quickly Appointed to Fill Vacancies.

DISMISSALS ARE DEFENDED

Head of Civil Service Commission Holds That All Employees Removed Were Political Appointees and Therefore Have No Room For Complaint—Merit Case Reaches the Ohio Supreme Court.

Columbus, Sept. 2.—The appellate court, sitting in Springfield, signed a pro forma entry affirming the Franklin county common pleas court in refusing the injunction to prevent the new civil service law's taking effect. The case now is ready for the supreme court.

More Democratic state employees were dismissed and more Republicans were appointed to fill vacancies. Employees who are let out by the new merit law have no room for complaint, Dr. B. Z. Campbell, chairman of the civil service commission, said. "Every one of these employees are political appointments, over whom the mantle of the civil service was attempted to be tarred by qualifying them under noncompetitive tests," he declared.

The state tax commission, instead of dismissing Democratic employees who have been serving under noncompetitive civil service appointment and filling their positions with Republicans, merely abolished positions. J. C. Goldrick of Hamilton and R. E. Delscamp of Dayton thus are without jobs.

Nine Let Out.

Nine employees of the industrial commission who have been holding positions under noncompetitive examinations were discharged and Republicans appointed in their places. Harry W. Putnam, Columbus, succeeds J. J. Higgins as chief auditor. The salary is $2,400.

Eugene A. Mead of Dayton was appointed superintendent of the Dayton free labor bureau at a salary of $1,600. Charles S. Hetrick of Galion was appointed bookkeeper at $1,500. Oliver Burgett of Lima, Ralph E. Zeigler of Toledo, John A. Downs of Scioto and Alexander White of Logan were appointed payroll auditors at $1,200. G. B. Lybarger of Nevada was appointed assistant actuary, a new position at $1,000.

Bert S. Bartlow of Hamilton refused to surrender his position of chief inspector of the dairy and food department to T. L. Calvert of Selma, and both are on the job.

Dr. Robert S. Best of Centerburg, Knox county, was declared to be the new chief statistician in the vital statistics department, instead of D. C. Pemberton. Pemberton is to remain as assistant statistician. The position of recording clerk in the secretary of state's office was given to Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati. Fred Nathragke of Cleveland was given the position of cashier in the state automobile department, succeeding William Wells.

Slander.

Slander, sir! You do not know what you are disdaining. I have seen the most respectable persons almost overwhelmed by it. * * * At first a light sound, skimming the earth like a swal low before the storm, very softly (planning) it murmurs and purrs and sows in its course poisoned arrows. It is on somebody's mouth, and softly, softly (planning) it glides slyly into your ear. The evil is done. It is born, it creeps, it walks, and with growing power (reinforcing) it goes from mouth to mouth diabolically. Then, all of a sudden—I can't tell you how—you see Slander straighten up, hiss, swell and grow tall before your very eyes. It springs, stretches its wings, whirls, envelops, seizes, carries off; it flashes lightning; it thunders and becomes a hue and cry, a public crescendo, a universal chorus of hatred and denunciation. Who indeed could stop it?—Beauregard.

Peanuts as They Grow.

The peanut plant somewhat resembles clover in its foliage and has small, yellow single flowers. After blossoming the little pods bend down and thrust themselves into the soil, when they grow into the well known thick shelled fruits. In cultivating the pods are covered with earth, thus insuring a large crop. Peanuts are natives of tropical America, but are now grown in many warm countries. In the southern United States they constitute an important crop.

It's to be hoped that automobile races will not attempt to compete with the war in the excitement of killing.

CONFESSES TO POLICE

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR CLEARS UP MYSTERY

Says Accomplice Shot Physician and Housekeeper.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 2.—The mystery of the double shooting on the Barrington road of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr and Miss Emily Burger, his housekeeper, resulting in the doctor's death, has been cleared up by the confession of the colored chauffeur, George W. Healis, that he and another colored man, Victor Brown, formerly employed as a stable boy by Mr. Mohr, had planned robbery, but not, as Healis intended, the murder of the couple.

There enters into the affair the element of revenge on the part of Brown, who was discharged by Mohr. Healis said the robbery was planned last Monday. Brown, it is said, fired the shots from ambush. He made his escape. His home is said to be in Roxbury, Mass. Boston police have been requested to pick him up.

Newspaper Advertising

Goes direct to the people and the people constitute the buying public. Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

The Naval academy court of inquiry in the case of cadets concerned in crooked examination methods recommended due punishment. Sympathy in such cases because the offenders are youths is entirely misplaced. Boys fitting themselves for careers must start right if they hope to end right, which, of course, they do. The late Admiral Sampson's dictum that officers of the navy must be gentlemen was much criticized owing to the way he applied it. It is a fit, however, in this particular instance, for it is here a question of conduct, not of social advantages.

In times of great risk upon the water many people take comfort in the thought that they are able to swim. Of course some of those who can swim may be drowned, but few of those who cannot swim have any chance of surviving a bareheaded struggle with the tide. In these days of numerous beaches easily reached there is little excuse for any one not learning to swim.

CHILlicothe's FALL FESTIVAL FAME SPREADS

The Fame of the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe grows apace. Many cities throughout the United States have recognized that this is really the most popular form of entertainment, instruction and public education that can be given—to display along the streets of a city the wealth of its production in commerce, industry, art, education, agriculture, and all the allied arts and activities which go to make a community successful. It is such an aggregation which the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe has brought together. The dates this year for the third annual Festival are September 20-25th both inclusive. At that time Chillicothe will be the center of attraction in all Ohio. The governor, lieutenant governor, state officials, and those who want to be state officials will be here on hand; delegations from many big cities will be on hand to learn a lesson from a smaller city and the one mile of displays in attractive booths will furnish a lesson in productivity and activity in all industries of the city and county.

In addition there will be plenty on the light side of life to attract. There will be the great lesson in aerial progress shown by the war maneuvers by aeroplane artists led by Satan Day, the greatest of them all. He will make his flights twice daily showing how the big aerial raids are conducted in the present European war, which we have read so much about. There will be the Great Pussner whose equilibristic feats have never been equalled; there will be parades of all kinds; two great spelling bees; the big Bill Parade; the industrial Parade and hundreds of other attractions which cannot fail to be of interest.

On Wednesday of that week the meeting of the Tenth District of Ohio Medical Association will be held here, and 500 doctors from all over Ohio will gather here. So if you are a doctor be sure to be here and bring your family.

It should be borne in mind that the horse events at the Festival this year are open to the world and that the horse show alone is worth your while to come and see. There is not a single line of human industry which will not be demonstrated in the Big Festival this year and the indications are that the biggest crowds ever assembled are going to here. Be one of them; mingle with your neighbors. Come here and meet your friends. Chillicothe will do everything possible to make your stay pleasant and profitable. Remember all these great attractions are entirely free, not a cent of cost to see this, the biggest show ever put out for public instruction.

"Satan Day" the world's famous aerial artist will make two flights daily at the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe during the week of September 20-25th; will attempt to make a world record for a cross-country flight in coming to that city. Mr. Day will fly from Ironton to Chillicothe on Sunday preceding the great show. During his flights Mr. Day will drop aerial bombs on all the cities over which he passes and the residents of Sciotoville, Piketon, Portsmouth, Waverly and Massieville are preparing to give him a big reception.

The Farmers' Fall Festival is the greatest free show ever given in this country and cities all over America are now giving similar attention to their towns in order to enliven the people. The third annual Festival to be held in Chillicothe this year will be even better than the others, if such a thing is possible and thousands are coming from everywhere. There are fourteen distinct departments in the Farmers' Fall Festival to be given at Chillicothe, week of September 20th and in each one of these the entrance is absolutely free. The farmers in this manner encouraged in making displays and each year the exhibit becomes larger and larger. Despite the fact that the Association own a mile of display booths, which are turned over to the farmers for their exhibits, it is none too large for them because from all parts of the country they come with their displays and the interest is very keen. For everything that the farmer may produce there is an award and many a home in the country has on display neatly framed a diploma which was won in another year.

Portugal has three large sources of revenue upon which the country depends for its prosperity—the exportation of wines, sardines and corkwood.

ROADS IN CHINA.

They Remind One Very Much of the Snakes in Ireland.

BECAUSE THERE ARE NONE.

What Apologies There Are For Them Are a Great Deal Like the Bed of a Stone Quarry—The Torture That Goes With a Trip In a Peking Cart.

Describing the roads, or, rather, the lack of roads, in China and the torture that is undergone by the tourist who, used to the luxurious modes of travel we may employ, trusts himself to the uncertain joys of a trip in a Peking chair, a writer in the Wide World Magazine says:

"Now, a Peking cart is a very venerable mode of progression. When our ancestors were lightly dressed in wood and had no conception of any wheeled vehicle the Chinese lady was paying her calls in the back of a Peking cart, the seat of honor under the tilt, well out of sight of the passers by, while her servant sat in front, the place of comfort, if such a word can be applied to anything pertaining to a Peking cart.

"In spite of its long and aristocratic record if there is any mode of progression more wearying and uncomfortable I have not met it. It is simply a springless board set on a couple of wheels with a wagon tilt of blue cotton over it and a place for heavy luggage behind. The Chinaman sits on the floor and does not seem to mind, but the ordinary westerner, like myself, packs his bedding and all the cushions he can beg or borrow around him and then resigns himself to his fate.

"The Peking cart has one advantage, people will tell you—it has nothing to break in it. But there are moments when it would be a mighty relief if something did break, for if the wood-work holds together as it tosses you from side to side you yourself are one sore, bruised mass. No; I cannot recommend a Peking cart, even on the smoothest road.

"And the roads in China are not smooth. We all know the description of the snakes in Ireland. 'There are none,' and much the same might be said about the roads in China. There are so called roads, certainly, upon which the people move about, but I have seldom met one that was any better than the surrounding country, and very, very often on this journey I met roads where it was ease and luxury to move off them on to the neighboring plowed field.

"The recipe for a road there in the north seems to be: 'Take a piece of the country that is really too bad to plow or to use for any agricultural purpose whatever, that a mountain torrent, in fact, has given up as too much for the water, upset a stone wall over it—a stone wall with good, large stones in it—take care they never for a moment lie evenly, and you have your road.

"Leaving Peking for the eastern tombs, you go for the first two or three hours along a paved way of magnificent proportions planned and laid out as a highway should be. The great stones with which it is paved were probably put there by slave labor, how many hundred years ago I do not know, but the blocks are uneven now, some of them are gone altogether, though how a huge block of stone could possibly disappear passes my understanding, and whenever the carter could he took the cart down beside the road, where at least the dust made a cushion for the nail studded wheels, and the jarring and the jolting were not quite so terrible.

"It takes as long to get beyond the environs of Peking in a cart as it does to get out of London in a motorcar. First we passed through the Babylonish gate, and the great walls were behind us; then, outside the city, all looking dusty, dirty and khaki colored in the brilliant sunshine, were numerous small houses, and the wayside was lined with booths on which were things for sale.

"Along the roadway came an endless array of people, clad for the most part in blue cotton—men walking, men with loads slung from a bamboo across their shoulders, donkeys laden with baskets or sacks of grain, with fat Chinese on their backs. There were Peking carts, there were mules, there were ponies, and this busy throng is almost the same as it was a couple of thousand years ago.

"But it was a long, long while before I could feel I was really in the country. There was the khaki colored land, there were the khaki colored houses, built of mud apparently, with graceful tiled roofs, and blue clad people everywhere and everywhere at work.

"Always the fields were most beautifully tilled. There were no fences, the Chinese are too civilized to need fences, and when you see stone walls it is only because, since they can't be dropped off the planet into space, the stones must be disposed of somehow."

Paris For Politeness.

Translated rather crudely and literally, this is the notice in a Paris trolley car: "Messieurs the passengers descending from the carriage are urged (literally "prayed"), before renouncing the shelter which the carriage they are about to quit offers them, to assure themselves, as a preliminary, that no carriage coming in the opposite direction is in proximity."

Upon the graves of the dead in the Turkish cemeteries little vessels of water are placed for the benefit of the birds, and some of the marble tombs have basins chiseled out for the same purpose, the superstition, being that birds carry messages about the living to the dead and, like everything else in Turkey, are suspected of being spiteful unless something is done to curry their favor.

WIFE IS HELD FOR HUSBAND'S MURDER

Negroes Arrested for Murder of Dr. Mohr, in Rhode Island, Claim Doctor's Wife Hired Them to Kill Husband and Woman With Him—Price of $5,000 Was to Be Paid, Say the Trio.

By Associated Press.

Providence, R. I., September 2.—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mohr, wife of the physician who was fatally shot Tuesday night while on an automobile trip with Miss Emily Burger, his office assistant, who was also wounded, was arrested today after three negroes had signed a written confession saying that Mrs. Mohr had hired them to kill the doctor.

She was charged with inciting to murder, but characterized the negroes' story as "absurd."

The negroes who are charged with murder are George Healis, Dr. Mohr's chauffeur; Cecil Brown, his former hostler, and Henry Spellman.

Police say Brown confessed that Mrs. Mohr, several weeks ago, promised to pay him $5,000 nine days after he should kill Dr. Mohr, and he got the others to help.

Mrs. Mohr told him to be sure to kill the doctor, he declared, and to kill Miss Burger if he could, or any other woman with the doctor.

All the negroes said Mrs. Mohr told them she was jealous of Dr. Mohr and wanted to get his estate, which she thought impossible if she sought a divorce.

She expected the estate to belong to her by the time she should pay them the $5,000.

The murder occurred at a dark place in the road, previously arranged, where the chauffeur stopped the car to allow the others to approach him from behind and do the shooting.

Dr. and Mrs. Mohr were married twelve years ago, and recently Mrs. Mohr instituted separation proceedings.

The police made public a letter addressed to a brother-in-law of Miss Burger, containing the warning that if Miss Burger "dares to enter my Newport home, she will never come out alive."

Brown's confession said Mrs. Mohr promised to put him in the garage business.

"Do not be afraid," she is declared to have told him, "I stand in with all the detectives and the police chief in Newport, and judges in Providence. Everything will blow over. This is something that has got to be done."

Brown said further: "She said if we got into any trouble she would spend her last dollar to get us out. She made me go to Boston to buy a revolver. She said to get a good one."

Mrs. Mohr did not appear to be the least disturbed at police headquarters. She sent out for a brown veil, which she arranged so that all but the lower part of her face was covered.

She is small and was dressed in a blue tailored suit and straw hat. She carried a vanity box in her gloved hands.

Mrs. Mohr's place here is assessed at $79,000, and a residence in Newport, at $75,000. He also has a small racing stable.

There are two children of the couple, aged 10 and 7. Mrs. Mohr has been active in women's clubs and other social circles.

POPE SENDS MESSAGE TO PRESIDENT

By Associated Press.

Washington, September 2.—Cardinal Gibbons today presented to President Wilson a message from Pope Benedict, regarding peace in Europe. Later he saw Secretary Lansing on the same subject.

After his conference at the White House, the cardinal announced that he had discussed the possibilities of peace with the president.

He said he had delivered a message from the pope on the question, but could not reveal its exact contents at this time.

The cardinal indicated broadly that he believed negotiations would soon be under way to end the war. He indicated also that further developments might become known soon.

It was suggested that it might be possible to get an agreement between Germany and England for guaranteeing the freedom of the seas, and in that way start discussion of peace terms.

DURBIN HAD 3 BARRELS

By Associated Press.

Columbus, September 2.—While United States Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, was being entertained today at the home of Andrew T. Durbin, son of W. W. Durbin, prominent politician of Kenton, young Durbin was arrested at the state fair grounds charged with bootlegging.

Three barrels of beer, in which the youth is alleged to have been in charge, were confiscated by agents of the State Liquor Licensing Board who made the arrest.

VON HINDENBURG HALTED BY RUSS

Unexpected Strength Is Developed By Slavs in North—Outer Forts of Grodno Fall. British Successful in Dardanelles—Turk Transports Are Sunk—Admiral Von Tirpitz's Vacation Significant.

By Associated Press.

London, September 2.—Four Turkish transports have been torpedoed by British submarines near the Gallipoli peninsula, according to a dispatch from Paris.

The British steamer Savona, of 1,100 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine, and three of her crew are missing.

Berlin reports that German forces attacking the Russian fortress of Grodno have taken the outer forts of the stronghold.

The British public has been greatly cheered by the recent heavy fighting at the Dardanelles.

General Hamilton, British commander-in-chief, claims his forces on the northern section of the line captured an important tactical point and made gains along the Australian front.

CLAIM GERMANY READY FOR PEACE

Pointed Out That There Are Numerous Indications Coming to Light Giving Ground for Belief That Germans Are "Educating" Foreign People to Idea of Early Peace—Gibbons to See Wilson—Great Victory for Wilson Diplomacy.

London, Sept. 2.—There are increasing indications that the German government is endeavoring to feel out the peace situation and to let the people of the various nations with which she is at war know that peace at this time, or in the very near future, will be acceptable to Germany.

The propaganda is being carried on through numerous channels and has at this time reached such a wide scope in its cumulative effect that there remains no doubt in the minds of diplomats here that the German government is seeking to educate the minds of foreign people to the idea of an early peace.

It is the German view, apparently, that this is the time to make peace because the German military successes are at their zenith.

Gibbons at White House.
Washington, Sept. 2.—President Wilson will have an important conference today with Cardinal Gibbons. It is understood that the cardinal's visit pertains to the international situation. Cable dispatches from Europe several weeks ago said that the pope was about to seek the co-operation of President Wilson in regard to a peace plan.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The menace of German submarine operations to the friendly relations between the United States and Germany apparently ended when the German ambassador informed Secretary Lansing that

"OO-y! My Corn-n!"
H-m, Use 'Gets-It'
Then You'll Have No Corns to Bump!
Your Corns Will Come "Clean Off" Quick!

Did you ever see a corn peel off after you've used "Gets-It" on it? Well, it's a moving picture for your life! And you hardly do a thing to it.

"Sore Corn Bumped Again! Use 'Gets-It' Corns Vanish!"
Put a little "Gets-It" on, it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. Put shoes and stockings on right over it. No pain, no fuss, 48 hours—corns gone. "Gets-It" never hurts the true flesh, never makes toes sore. If you have tried almost everything else for corns, you will be much more surprised to see how quickly and easily your corns and calluses will come right off with "Gets-It." it is the intention of his government not to sink passenger liners without warning and without regard for the safety of noncombatants on board.

While this communication is not in itself all-inclusive, making no mention of the treatment to be accorded nonpassenger carrying merchantmen, it is regarded here as demonstrating beyond question that Germany has yielded to the United States and that there will be no further serious trouble over this issue. As Secretary of State Lansing himself said, the ambassador's communication is interpreted as a "recognition of the fundamental principle for which President Wilson has been contending."

The German ambassador also shares the view that the question of principle, which had brought the two governments to the verge of a complete break, has been settled. In diplomatic circles generally the crisis is regarded as completely over. The task of adjusting the details of a settlement by Germany for what has occurred and providing for the future will, it is believed, be simple.

Big Diplomatic Victory.
Although various interpretations may be put upon the acceptance by Germany of the principle for which the United States has been contending, her action undoubtedly will be regarded by the world as a great diplomatic victory for the United States. In official circles here and in diplomatic quarters as well, it is held that the success of this government with Germany on the submarine issue will greatly strengthen the position of the United States in the eyes of the world, particularly in reference to the

INVASION IS EXPECTED BY TOWNS ON BORDER

Mexicans Would Avenge the Death of Orozco.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 2.—All towns and ranches along the Mexican border are in arms waiting for what they believe will be a general invasion by Mexicans as a result of the killing of General Orozco. Mercedes, Harlingen, Del Rio and a score of smaller towns are closely guarded by armed citizens and soldiers. Ranches all over the border section are guarded by cowboys and rangers, heavily armed.

Several suspicious Mexicans were arrested in the border country, but it is believed that only one Mexican was killed. At various points along the Rio Grande bands of armed Mexicans have been seen. They were mounted and were galloping along as if looking for order to cross into Texas. Colonel Omar Bunday, temporarily war in Europe. It is admitted that it will go far toward making President Wilson available as a peacemaker in the European struggle.

Many important results will flow from the removal of the danger of a break with Germany. One of the first will be the renewal of efforts to obtain from Great Britain a larger measure of respect for the rights of American trade. In official quarters, particularly, emphasis is laid on the fact that the president's hands are now freed and that he can proceed to demand observance of the law from Great Britain without fear that he will become involved in a dangerous situation as regards Germany.

The political importance attached to the latest developments can hardly be overestimated. They feel that Germany's action has absolutely vindicated President Wilson's course in dealing with Germany. Mr. Wilson, officials assert, can now go before the country and show that he stood firmly for American rights, won his point and got the country out of trouble.

Another Effect.

Another effect likely to come from the elimination of the fear of a break with Germany is increased activity by those opposing, for political or other reasons, large increase in appropriations for national defense. The adjustment of the issue with Germany will be cited by the small army and navy adherents as proof that the United States can maintain its rights without the use of military forces and that there is no warrant or occasion for plunging into elaborate preparations for a war.

While Germany's action and change of attitude is regarded by the administration as bringing within close view the end of the submarine operations, the Washington officials are still maintaining their attitude of waiting for Germany to move further and make unmistakably clear, in formal and official manner, its reply to the demands of the United States.

The next move by Germany is expected to be a statement regarding the Arabic incident.

Ambassador Von Bernstorff's note to Secretary Lansing reads: "With reference to our conversation of this morning, I beg to inform you that my instructions concerning our answer to your last Lusitania note contains the following passage: 'Liners will not be sunk by our submarines without warning and without safety of the lives of noncombatants,' provided that the liners do not try to escape or offer resistance.' Although I know that you do not wish to discuss the Lusitania question until the Arabic incident has been definitely and satisfactorily settled, I desire to inform you of the above because this policy of my government was decided on before the Arabic incident occurred. I have no objection to your making any use you may please of the above information."

Pittsburgh, Sept. 2.—True to his promise made a few days before he left for the Pacific coast, Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White, through his attorneys filed a suit for absolute divorce against Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, naming as corespondent John Francis of New York. The petition alleges that Evelyn was guilty of improper conduct with Francis in December, 1909, and January, 1910, in New York city, and at other times and places. In addition to the charges of misconduct concerning Evelyn and John Francis, the only other charge it contains is that of desertion. Thaw alleging that Evelyn deserted him in 1910. There is no mention in the petition of "Pompom," Evelyn's child.

Evelyn kept the baby's birth secret for some time and the child was several months old before it became generally known that he had been born. Subsequently she gave out a statement asserting that Harry was the father of the child and that she was his mother. This Thaw has publicly denied.

John Francis, correspondent in the Thaw case, is thirty-eight and well known in the night life of New York. He was a reporter when Thaw shot Stanford White and was assigned to cover the murder for his paper. He had known Mrs. Thaw before the shooting, and in the course of his work met her frequently. In this way he came to know her well.

The Death of Orozco

Pascual Orozco, who, during the last half dozen years, has been one of the numerous Mexicans acting as a revolutionary leader, was killed Tuesday in a running fight which occurred between a band of Mexican bandits headed by himself and a posse of cowboys in Culbertson county, Texas.

The career of Orozco has been a stormy and eventful one. Scores of times during his life Orozco has faced death and each time escaped unscathed only to meet an ignominious death while engaged in leading a robber raid.

Tall, angular, vicious looking, uncouth and illiterate, there was withal a native force about that peculiar man which marked him as an individual different from his fellows and gave strong proof, that beneath the unattractive appearance there lurked that indefinable something which approaches, even if it fails to reach, real greatness.

Perhaps if Orozco had been afforded better advantages in youth both in the way of home training and early associates he would have lived a different life and met a more honorable death.

In earlier life he was a driver of mule teams and into his keeping was given great quantities of bullion—gold, silver and copper—to be transported from the mines of interior Mexico to the smelters.

It was Orozco's duty to guide and protect those trains through the bandit infested districts of the mountain country. He dealt with ruffians and held back ruffians and grew to be a ruffian himself. Later on he became an ally and supporter of Madero in the revolution against Diaz.

He proved himself at all times sufficient to the demands made upon him and rose equal to every occasion. In the councils of state in Mexico City, following the success of the Madero revolution, he was able to participate. In the uprising against Madero the veneer of respectability did not prove sufficient armor to protect him from the temptations which Mexican warfare offered and he took up arms against his former chief. The alliance with Huerta was but a sham, illy disguising the effort to gratify a brutal desire to rob and murder, which had been aroused by the leadership of an "army" in the Madero revolution.

The descent was rapid. From a plunderer clothed with the authority of war he soon became an out and out bandit with but scant pretense of alliance with any respectable movement and never, after the end of the Madero regime, with any recognized authority.

From mule driver to general of an army the associate and intimate of statesmen, the representative of a government meeting with the business men of El Paso and by them banqueted and honored and down again to robber outlaw to meet death in a fight with civil authorities on foreign soil, is the story of a career which has few duplicates indeed in real life.

Had Orozco met death on the field of battle, fighting with Madero for freedom from the tyranny of Diaz, his career, his rise to fame and success, might have warranted history in recording him quite a man. But death was delayed until the brute instincts again secured the mastery.

Orozco died while engaged in the most disgraceful acts of his checkered career.

A disturbing element in Mexico, an obstacle to the work of establishing peace and order and observance of law in Mexico, was eliminated when the bullet fired from the revolver of a Texas cowboy brought the remarkable life of Orozco to its close.

The State Institution

The people of Ohio sincerely hope that the State Board of Administration—that board which has control and management of all state institutions, including those which the generous public of Ohio have established and maintain for the benefit of the unfortunate—will escape being drawn into the whirlpool of politics and the scramble for place that has already engulfed so many officials and departments of state.

The people hailed the establishment of the state board of Administration and the consequent removal of the penal and charitable institutions of state from the grasp of petty place hunting politicians as the dawn of a better day—as the coming of that time when public officials would not regard those institutions, builded with the money of the people to house and care for the unfortunates, as places to be given into the keeping of politicians to enable them to reap a reward for services rendered.

Fearful that the demand for place is imperiling those institutions and threatening to again open them up to the spoils system the people of Ohio are hoping that the Board of Administration will remain firm in its refusal to allow politics and the claims of politicians to control them and that the governor of the state, instead of inaugurating a movement for the removal of that board, for so doing will complement the members and, in unmistakable language, express a determination to join in the work of keeping state institutions out of politics.

In the management of state institutions the public service has been raised to a high level and it should be kept there.

Poetry For Today

GOOD-BY SUMMER.

Farewell, Summer, cold and bleak,
With thy heavens spring a leak!
Gone for aye thy wintry days,
With their frigid arctic ways—
Back into thy polar nest
Speed thee onward, there to rest
With thy fog, and sleet, and frost,
And thy spirit tempest-tost!

Who designed thee none may know
With thy January glow;
Whence was born thy antic scheme
Only wizardly may dream;
Wherefore thy December touch,
Wherefore thy November clutch,
Wherefore all thy flood and hail,
No mere mortal may unveil.

Possibly thou wast a jest
Of some Pow'r by wars distressed,
Sent to thrill a weeping earth
With a rude Homeric mirth—
But a sad joke, if at all—
Summer aping, Winter, Fall,
Is a bit of empty chaff
Quite unworthy of the laugh.

Or perhaps, some Cubist weight
Hath convinced thee on some night
When the gods were occupied
With Bellona's crimson tide,
Changed thee from the silky thing
All true poets used to sing,
And for sunshine, zephyrs sweet,
Given us but storm and sleet.

Whence and wherefore all thy stress
Finite mind can never guess;
But 'tis certain, high or low,
Glad are we to see thee go;
And we hope till thou are sane—
Thou wilt not return again—
Changeling Child of Flim and Flam,
Vale ad Aeternitatem!

MUSIC LANGUAGE.

Single Notes Are Its Letters, Groups of Notes Its Words.

As you know, the single notes are the letters of the music language. Groups of notes are the words of the music language. In a spoken language the letters are always sounded one after the other. In the music language they are sometimes sounded one after the other and sometimes simultaneously.

This fact explains two important divisions of music—namely, melody and harmony. In a general way, melody consists of single tones heard one after the other; combinations of tones heard simultaneously are called harmony. A word of the music language may consist of several tones in succession, like a word of the spoken language, which consists of several letters in succession.

On the other hand, a word of the music language may consist of several tones heard simultaneously, which is impossible in language. Some of the most important words of the music language are those which are used in both these ways, and it is one of the great charms of music that its words can be heard in these two ways.—Dr. Rudolf von Liebig in Woman's World.

TURN OF THE WORM.

Her Claim to Fame Put All Her Rivals Out of the Running.

The superintendent of a charitable institution for the aged poor in a certain district says that there is no topic more pleasing to some old women than the discussion of their "better days," when they were the fortunate possessors of "everything heart could wish for," as they are apt to express it.

One old lady in the institution mentioned never tired of describing the finery she had when she was a bride. Another boasted of having once owned a "gold band china tea set" and six solid silver teaspoons, while a third dwelt at length on the elegance of a flowered silk gown and satin parasol with fringe fifteen inches long.

One poor old lady stood this sort of talk as long as she could. Then she calmly interrupted with:

"Well, I never had no chiny tea things, nor no silk gowns, nor embroidered petticoats, nor openwork stockings, nor gold earrings, nor nothing 'o' that sort, but I have had four husbands, an' I'd like to know whether any of you can beat that."—Exchange.

Victor Hugo's Modesty.

It is related that upon one occasion Victor Hugo, the great French writer, received a letter bearing an address of a single line, "To Our Supreme Poet." Hugo took the letter to Lamartine.

"Here, my dear friend," he said, "is a letter which certainly is intended for you."

After a long and extremely courteous discussion, which resolved itself into a combat of flattery, it occurred to them to break the seal, which they did, and read, "My dear Alfred." The letter was for Alfred de Musset and came from Alexander Dumas. Lamartine smiled, but Hugo, who did not relish the turn of affairs, made no comment. Some time later Clovis Hugues asked the author of "Hernani," "Sir, who, in your opinion, is the premier poet of our time?" and received the following reply:

"The second is M. Lamartine, and the third is M. de Musset."

How It's Done.

When Abraham Lincoln sat book in hand day after day under the tree, moving round it as the shadow crossed, absorbed in mastering his tasks; when James Garfield rang the bell at Hiram institute on the very stroke of the hour and swept the schoolroom as faithfully as he mastered his Greek lesson; when Ulysses Grant, sent with his team to meet some men who came to load his cart with logs and, finding no men, loaded the cart with his own boy's strength, they showed in the conscientious performance of duty the qualities which were to raise them to become kings of men.—Canton Farrar's

BURGLAR VISITS LEWIS HOME FOR FOURTH TIME

For the fourth time during the past few weeks, a burglar visited the home of C. W. Lewis on Columbus avenue, and made his escape with a small amount of money and the key to the front door, leaving untouched silverware and other valuables which were exposed and which the thief could have carried off very easily, but would have experienced difficulty in getting rid of the door and probably been captured in the act.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis are not aware at what time the burglary occurred, but Thursday morning the front door key was missing, and a further search revealed the fact that a purse containing a small sum of money, was gone. The purse, minus the change, was later picked up in the back yard.

A drawer in the buffet, containing silverware, had been removed, but the silverware was untouched.

The series of burglaries at the Lewis home has been of a puzzling nature, but it is believed that the burglar is someone well acquainted with the premises, and probably under 21 years of age.

The fact that the rascal now has the front door key has added to the apprehension of the family, and the lock will probably be changed at once in order to frustrate a further pilfering of the premises.

CLOSING SESSION OF CONVENTION

The 38th Annual Convention of the county W. C. T. U. closed an interesting and profitable meeting with the session Wednesday afternoon.

The various unions of the county were well represented and the reports of the superintendents highly encouraging.

Mrs. Alice Taggart, county president, made a practical talk along the line of the great work awaiting the organization and its possibilities for good, that met with the hearty endorsement of every one who heard it.

Mrs. Snodgrass, state lecturer, delivered a short address on "Purity," a subject handled ably from the speaker's extensive experience and personal work.

The convention was felt to be an incentive towards the coming effort to make Ohio a dry state.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT MONTHLY SESSION

The September meeting of the C. W. B. M. of the Christian church was held in the church parlors Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance.

There was a delightful program as follows:

A beautiful piano solo was rendered by Mrs. Herbert Campbell; a vocal solo by Miss Jennie Williams; a letter from the college of missions was read by Mrs. Nina Miller; a very interesting talk on training of children was given by Mrs. Wm. Blackwell.

This being the election of officers the following were elected for the coming year:

Mrs. John Van Gundy, president; Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, 1st vice-president; Mrs. Blackwell, 2nd vice-president.

Mrs. Nina Miller, Secretary; Mrs. Maude Perry, Assistant Secretary; Mrs. Elden Irvin, Treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Patten, Librarian; Mrs. Clark Mershon, Assistant Librarian; Miss Naomi Buckley, President of the Junior Society; Miss Jennie Williams, assistant.

The purple and white color scheme was carried out effectively, those being the colors of the auxiliary. Six tables were spread which were decorated in purple and white asters.

Very dainty refreshments were served. The hostesses were Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, Mrs. H. C. Conwell, Mrs. Carson Maddox, Mrs. Loren Perry.

JANE COWL

America's most gorgeously endowed stage beauty, in

"THE GARDEN OF LIES"

By Justus Miles Forman. A sentimental romance in 5 acts Miss Cowl needs no introduction as an actress as she will be remembered as the leading woman in "WITHIN THE LAW" "THE GAMBLERS" and "THE EASIEST WAY," all great legitimate successes. Jane Cowl is the newest acquisition to the screen and her debut in "THE GARDEN OF LIES" gives her a splendid chance to display her rare beauty. Justus Miles Forman, the author of the play, met death along side of the late Chas. Frohman on the ill-fated steamer Lusitania.

FALL FESTIVAL DRAWS CROWDS

The gayest place in Washington these nights is the Fall Festival grounds on the Hegler lot on South Main street. The Odd Fellows are meeting with great success in their engagement of the Fareri Shows, claimed to be the largest carnival shows in the world, with the famous Col. Francis Fareri trained wild animals, and numerous other carnival attractions.

The grounds blaze with light and the scene is brilliant and picturesque with the center of all the gayly decked merry-go-round and its alluring music.

Bands play at both ends of the grounds and the crowds that gathered found amusement galore.

Of course the big attraction was the Fareri trained wild animals in the tent with the gorgeous front and the band-organ. This animal show deserves to be classed as foremost in its line. The animals are splendid specimens and under marvelous control.

The Kangaroo boxing match is a decided novelty in animal exhibitions and a feature that alone is worth the admission.

The three animal trainers, Mile. Andrea, Capt. Gulliane Richardo and Herman Weeden gave thrilling exhibitions with lions, tigers, leopards, and pumas, each one characterized by distinctive work.

Each night sees the grounds more and more crowded and the carnival is decidedly a popular place of meeting.

STATION PLANS ARE ON THE WAY

Some 21 members of the Dutch Treat Club assembled for the regular noonday luncheon, Thursday, and after the luncheon it was announced that the B. & O. had communicated with Mr. Worthington to the effect that plans for the new union depot would be in the hands of Mayor Coffey and the club within two or three days.

Other matters were discussed, but no business of importance was transacted.

In Social Circles

A charming affair of the week in the younger set was an informal tea given by Miss Evelyn Ross, Wednesday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Miss Nina Sawyer of Marysville, O., and Miss Edith Ranch, of Cincinnati, the guest of the Misses Pine.

The rooms, most inviting in their floral adornment of white asters and greenery, gracefully arranged in baskets and vases and flood of rare summer sunshine, held a gay coterie of girls with a sprinkling of matrons between the hours of four and six.

Miss Ross received in a clinging gown of white crepe de chine, with lace garniture.

Miss Sawyer was wearing white net over taffeta, with deep rose mesaline girdle.

Miss Rauch's gown was an elaborate affair of white satin, draped in net, with relief of Peacock green.

Assisting in the cordial hospitalities of the afternoon were Mrs. Frederick E. Ross, Misses Pauline and Lucy Edna Pine, Jane Saxton and Ruth Smith.

Mrs. Hugh Weir of New York, was an out of town guest.

Miss Mildred Taylor celebrated her fifteenth birthday with an exceedingly pretty party, Wednesday evening at her home on Fayette street.

A white and gold color scheme was artistically carried out in the decorations and in the dainty summer refreshment served.

The evening was delightfully spent in a variety of amusements, of which a "Traveler's contest" was unique. Miss Laura DeWees won the first prize; Miss Ruth Cissna the second and Miss Gertrude Wise of Parkersburg, W. Va., the consolation.

The young hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sisters, Misses Prue and Anna Taylor.

The guests included Mary Murphy, Ruth Cissna, Eleanor McClain, Aline Williams, Prue Anna Deheart, Alice Parrett, Elsie Forman, Mary Persinger, Sarah Dewees, Margaret Schneider, Elizabeth Hendryx, Elizabeth Davis, Wanda May Norris, Genevieve Price, Lucille Boyer, Martha Nelson, Rosalie Slagle, Dorothy Dill, Laura Helen DeWees, Marion Christopher, Lorie King, Freda Barger, Opal Stanforth and Gertrude Green. Miss Gertrude Wise, of Parkersburg, W. Va., was an out of town guest.

The September meeting of Grace church W. F. M. S. was held at the parsonage, Mrs. Ross hostess, with the officers as assistant hostesses. It was a good meeting with eighteen members present and much interest and enthusiasm manifested in regard to various plans and devices for the next year's work concerning the best interest of the society and the jubilee.

It being annual election of officers and mite box opening there was no program. The same officers were re-elected for the coming year with the exception of two new members being placed on committee program.

Mrs. Alice Adams gave a very interesting and impressive talk on what she gleaned on missionary work from missionaries at the camp meeting at Mt. Vernon. The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. S. Hodson.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. McCoy, Mr. S. O. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Orris Hegler motored to Columbus for the fair Wednesday.

Tomb of Ezra.
Doubt has often been expressed as to whether the tomb of Ezra, on the Tigris, now in British possession, really holds the remains of the great Hebrew prophet, for Josephus says he was buried in Jerusalem. The Talmud, however, states that Ezra died at Zanzura, a town on the Tigris, when on his way from Jerusalem to Susa to plead the cause of the captive Hebrews; so the authenticity of the tomb is not improbable.—Pall Mall Gazette.

DRIVE RUSSIANS OUT OF GALICIA

Austrians Announce Capture of Important Stronghold.

SEIZE THE FORTRESS OF LUTSK

Object of the Teutons to Separate the Russian Army Operating in Galicia From the Forces Operating to the North—Russians Holding Their Own on the Rest of the Front.—Operations in France.

London, Sept. 2.—It was officially announced at Vienna that the fortress of Lutsk, which with those of Dubno and Rovno forms a fortified triangle on Russian territory just north of the Galician frontier, has been captured by Austrians. It is in this direction that the Austro-German offensive has been the most aggressive during the past few days, the object being to separate the Russian army which has been retreating through the Pripiet marshes from that operating in Galicia.

The capture of Lutsk is likely to compel the Russians to evacuate that part of Galicia held by them; otherwise their flank would be seriously threatened.

Along the rest of the front, except in the center, where the Austro-Germans continue to make a slow advance, the Russians appear to be holding their own. They have thus far prevented the Germans from crossing the Dvina at Friedrichstadt, where a battle has been in progress for several days; they have arrested the German offensive between that point and the Gulf of Riga, and are still holding their ground between Kovno and Vilna and before Grodno, although the Germans have approached the outer positions of Grodno fortress.

Rains Would Aid Russ. In the opinion of military writers here, the Russians now stand a good chance of winning the race for time. Within a few weeks the autumn rains will begin and, it is pointed out, unless they can succeed in gaining a decisive result before that time, the Austro-Germans can hardly hope to smash the Russian armies before, under cover of the long winter, they are reformed and re-equipped. At present the Austro-Germans are straining every nerve to win this decision, but they have been greatly delayed by the intensity of the Russian counter attacks and the stubbornness with which the Russian troops hold the

IN a previous article, it was stated that nearly everybody has tuberculosis at some time or other during his lifetime. Autopsies on people have shown that hardly a single human being reaches mature life without a scar on his lungs or elsewhere showing where tuberculosis had attacked him, and he, by his normal resistance and vitality, had warded off the continuation of the attack.

Because tuberculosis is so widespread, every man, woman and child should give the most careful attention to those signs of the disease which point out danger. The treacherous disease germs may enter the body in early childhood and may not cause any serious trouble for ten or fifteen years. Then, all of a sudden, when the body is weakened by overwork, worry, sickness, or bad living and working conditions, these sleeping germs wake up and become active in the destruction of the lungs or other organs. The working man or woman, therefore, cannot be too careful in the safeguarding of health and in watching out for those symptoms which indicate that the disease of tuberculosis is actually present. What, then, are some of the danger signals and what should be done about them?

(1) First of all, there is a cough that hangs on and will not clear up. If it lasts for a month or longer, it is a red light, a danger signal, which you cannot afford to ignore. It may start with wet feet or some other insignificant circumstance, but no matter how the cough started, if it does not go away, see your doctor at once. Colds frequently weaken the bodily tone and resistance, so that it is easy for the lurking germs to get a foothold.

(2) Loss of weight, accompanied by a loss of appetite, and a certain amount of "stomach trouble" is another danger signal, which you must not pass unheeded. Sometimes loss of weight may come from some other cause than tuberculosis, but it pays to be on your guard. You may not have a cough, and you may experience very little trouble except a sort of chronic weariness. You ought to know what your normal weight should be. If you begin to lose five, ten or more pounds without any apparent reason, look for sound medical advice at once. Sometimes with loss of weight goes a loss of appetite, and trouble with bowels and stomach, even running to diarrhea. Whether you are losing much weight or not, look out for this danger signal. It is a warning that something is wrong.

(3) Then there is that run-down, all-the-time-tired feeling. Most people have days when they feel unusually tired, for some reason or other. Such an occasional period of "spring fever" or "lazy liver" may not be at all dangerous, but when every day for two or three weeks you hate to get up and dread to do anything but lie around and be lazy, there is danger ahead. This is Nature's warning to you that some enemy inside your body is sapping your vitality. Don't ignore the warning signal!

(4) Anyone of the three symptoms just mentioned may occur singly or all of them may come at one time. When, to any or all, there is added a fever in the late afternoon or during the night, accompanied possibly by sweats, beware of this danger signal. It is a bright red flag which Nature waves before you, cautioning you to give immediate heed. Anyone's temperature may rise at times, some people's more easily than others. But when for a week every afternoon about four or five o'clock you've felt feverish, or when night after night you wake up in a dripping sweat, you may rest assured that there is nothing normal about that. Go to your doctor at once and tell him about it. You may have no cough and no other sign of disease, and this may be the only warning you'll get. Give heed to it at once.

(5) If you have a cough and in spitting you find streaks of blood in your sputum, you may rest assured that something is wrong. It may not be a direct sign of tuberculosis, but whatever it is, you should attend to it at once. You cannot afford to waste time putting it off. Nature may give you that more emphatic warning of the presence of tuberculosis, a hemorrhage of the lungs. If so, don't be scared unduly. It is a danger signal, and if you heed it, you may be safe.

There are other danger signals, some which you can see and some which only a trained physician can detect. Your safety lies in getting medical attention as early as possible. Tuberculosis can be cured if it is discovered in time. The time to discover it is when the first symptoms show themselves. Don't take chances with Death. You'll lose every time.

Go to a good doctor, if you notice any of these danger signals, and insist that he examine you stripped to the waist. If you can't afford a doctor, go to a free clinic and be examined. It may cost a few dollars to be examined, but it may save you hundreds of dollars, untold suffering, and possibly your life and that of your wife and family.

"SAFETY FIRST" is a motto that applies to tuberculosis, especially when it is first showing itself.

[NOTE—This is the Fourth of a Series of Five Articles Prepared by The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, New York City.]

FOOLED HIMSELF.

Did It Deliberately, Too, and Seemed to Enjoy It.

Old Josh Lee was a miser, and he breakfasted every morning on oatmeal. To save fuel he cooked his week's supply of oatmeal on Sundays. This supply by the time Saturday came round was pretty stiff and tough and hard to down.

One Saturday morning old Josh found his oatmeal particularly unappetizing. It had a crust on it like iron. He took a mouthful of the cold, stiff mixture; then he half rose, thinking he'd have to cook himself some eggs.

But he hated to give in. He hated to waste that oatmeal. So he took out the whisky bottle, poured a generous glass, and setting it before his plate, he said:

"Now, Josh, if you eat that oatmeal you'll get this whisky; if you don't you won't."

The oatmeal was hard to consume, but Josh, with his eye on the whisky, managed it. Then when the last spoonful was gone he grinned broadly, poured the whisky back into the bottle again and said:

"Josh, my son, I fooled you that time, you old idiot!"—Exchange.

NERVE IN GOLF.

Vardon's Shot That Won a Match That Was Considered Lost.

In the American Magazine Jerome D. Travers writes on Vardon, whom he calls the greatest golfer. One year Vardon played over a hundred grilling matches over the longest and toughest British courses and averaged 74 for the season. In the following extract Travers describes what he considers Vardon's best shot:

"Except with the putter there seems to be no shot in golf beyond Vardon's magic. I will explain with one striking example just what I mean: In one of his championship battles he had come to the seventeenth hole at a tie with one of his rivals for the top. His drive here traveled a trifle farther than he had calculated and found a deep rut in a road crossing the course. His opponent, playing first, was nicely on the green in two for a sure four. It seemed that Vardon was beaten to a certainty. His ball was six inches below the top of the ground in a deep, narrow rut. And the green was 140 yards away. "Vardon took out a heavy niblick and, in place of playing to one side to be sure to get out, took his stance in the direction of the pin and brought his club down with terrific force. To the wonder of the big gallery, the ball rose almost straight in the air and then, with the forward spin imparted, sailed on to within ten feet of the cup. The other man got his four, but Vardon got his three, winning a match that had been practically lost."

Filipinos and Chickens.

The fact that no Filipino of the common class regards himself equipped for living without at least one male chicken explains why the islands, although raising so many chickens, still import millions of dozens of eggs. As in all cockfighting countries, the fighting bird in the Philippines is a personal pet which the owner carries about during practically every idle moment of the day and on which he lavishes enough care to raise many laying hens. Duck eggs are rarely found in the market except as "balutes"—that is, eggs on the point of hatching, boiled, a form in which eggs are commonly eaten by the Filipinos. They are sold for lunches at all railway stations and at other points where crowds gather.—Argonaut.

ROOTS OUT CORNS BY PENETRATION

Dr. Hunt Finds the Quick, Clean, Painless, Effective Way. ONLY 10¢

Cutting a corn never cured it. Caustic liquids only invite blood poisoning, and stimulate further corn growth. Corn pads are bulky and squeeze the toes. Salves are greasy. But the one way that does cure corns of all kinds and sizes is the penetration way, discovered by Dr. Hunt, of Sidney, Ohio, a medical man who has spent a lifetime in the development of this new principle of curing corns by penetration.

Dr. Hunt's New Corn Cure comes in the form of clean, handy plaster. Six plasters in a box. Trim plaster size of corn and apply. Instantly the pain is eased. All you feel is the soothing effect. The plaster does not bulk up like clumsy pads.

Now see what happens: In two days the corn has become so thoroughly penetrated that it can be easily and quite painlessly lifted out, root, branch and all.

Remember, this principle is new. It is different from anything else offered as a permanent cure for stubborn corns. And a box full costs only ten cents. Money back if not delighted. Sold by druggists and shoe dealers everywhere. Or, send ten cents in stamps to American Chemical Company, Sidney, Ohio.

No thoughtful person uses liquid blue. It's a pinch of blue in a large bottle of water. Ask for Red Cross Ball Blue.

SHIPYARD SECRETS.

Precautions Taken to Guard Them by the English Officials.

Every British shipyard that builds for the navy must take great precautions that none of the secrets entrusted to its care shall leak out. Detectives watch all visitors and keep the workmen under observation also. Plain clothes officers guard every entrance, and nobody is allowed to bring in even a small parcel unless it is first examined, for fear that it may conceal a camera. At one of the big construction yards one man in every two dozen is thoroughly searched from head to foot each night on leaving. All the draftsman engaged on the drawings of a new warship are sworn to secrecy, and the plans are invariably kept under lock and key when not in use.

These precautions have brought many suspicious circumstances to light. One night when a new cruiser was about to undergo her trials two men crept aboard as she lay at anchor. They were captured and handed over to the police. Shortly afterward, on the day of her trial, the chief engineer thought it would be advisable to have another look at the interior of the turbines before steaming to make certain that no rubbish had got inside to injure the delicate turbine blades. But worse than rubbish was found. When the turbines were opened two heavy steel chisels were discovered inside. If the machinery had been started the damage would have taken months to repair.—Pearson's Weekly.

Oddest Parasite In Creation.

The royal Bengal tiger is infested with one of the strangest creatures that ever lived. It is said to be a fact easily demonstrated or proved by one who has access to a zoological collection that the web of the foot of tigers of the above named species is inhabited by a bloodsucking insect about the size of a common flea which is a perfect counterpart of a tiger in every particular, shape, claws, tail and stripes included.

They're Different.

"These dressing room rows among actresses are different from other quarrels."

"In what way?"

"They can stay at daggers drawn with one another and still be making up."—Baltimore American.

CARESS OF AXE
FOR DEMOCRATS

Republicans Quickly Appointed to Fill Vacancies.

DISMISSALS ARE DEFENDED

Head of Civil Service Commission Holds That All Employees Removed Were Political Appointees and Therefore Have No Room For Complaint—Merit Case Reaches the Ohio Supreme Court.

Columbus, Sept. 2.—The appellate court, sitting in Springfield, signed a pro forma entry affirming the Franklin county common pleas court in refusing the injunction to prevent the new civil service law's taking effect. The case now is ready for the supreme court.

More Democratic state employees were dismissed and more Republicans were appointed to fill vacancies. Employees who are let out by the new merit law have no room for complaint, Dr. B. Z. Campbell, chairman of the civil service commission, said. "Every one of these employees are political appointees, over whom the mantle of the civil service was attempted to be thrown by qualifying them under noncompetitive tests," he declared.

The state tax commission, instead of dismissing Democratic employees who have been serving under noncompetitive civil service appointment and filling their positions with Republicans, merely abolished positions. J. C. Goldrick of Hamilton and R. E. Delscamp of Dayton thus are without jobs.

Nine Let Out.

Nine employees of the industrial commission who have been holding positions under noncompetitive examinations were discharged and Republicans appointed in their places. Harry W. Putnam, Columbus, succeeds J. J. Higgins as chief auditor. The salary is $2,400.

Eugene A. Mead of Dayton was appointed superintendent of the Dayton free labor bureau at a salary of $1,600. Charles S. Hetrick of Galion was appointed bookkeeper at $1,500. Oliver Burgett of Lima, Ralph E. Zeigler of Toledo, John A. Downs of Scio and Alexander White of Logan were appointed payroll auditors at $1,200. G. B. Lybarger of Nevada was appointed assistant actuary, a new position at $1,000.

Bert S. Bartlow of Hamilton refused to surrender his position of chief inspector of the dairy and food department to T. L. Calvert of Selma, and both are on the job.

Dr. Robert S. Best of Centerburg, Knox county, was declared to be the new chief statistician in the vital statistics department, instead of D. C. Pemberton. Pemberton is to remain as assistant statistician. The position of recording clerk in the secretary of state's office was given to Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati. Fred Nathragke of Cleveland was given the position of cashier in the state automobile department, succeeding William Wells.

Slander.

Slander, sir! You do not know what you are disclaiming. I have seen the most respectable persons almost overwhelmed by it. * * * At first a light sound, skimming the earth like a swallow before the storm, very softly (pianissimo) it murmurs and purrs and sows in its course poisoned arrows. It is on somebody's mouth, and softly, softly (piano, piano) it glides slyly into your ear. The evil is done. It is born, it creeps, it walks, and with growing power (rinforzando) it goes from mouth to mouth diabolically. Then, all of a sudden—I can't tell you how—you see Slander straighten up, hiss, swell and grow tall before your very eyes. It springs, stretches its wings, whirls, envelops, seizes, carries off; it flashes lightning; it thunders and becomes a hue and cry, a public crescendo, a universal chorus of hatred and proscription. Who indeed could stop it?—Beaumont Newhall.

Peanuts as They Grow.

The peanut plant somewhat resembles clover in its foliage and has small, yellow single flowers. After blossoming the little pods bend down and thrust themselves into the soil, when they grow into the well known thick shelled fruits. In cultivating the pods are covered with earth, thus insuring a large crop. Peanuts are natives of tropical America, but are now grown in many warm countries. In the southern United States they constitute an important crop.

CONFESSES TO POLICE

NEGRO CHAUFFEUR CLEARS UP MYSTERY

Says Accomplice Shot Physician and Housekeeper.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 2.—The mystery of the double shooting on the Barrington road of Dr. C. Franklin Mohr and Miss Emily Burger, his housekeeper, resulting in the doctor's death, has been cleared up by the confession of the colored chauffeur, George W. Healis, that he and another colored man, Victor Brown, formerly employed as a stable boy by Mr. Mohr, had planned robbery, but not, as Healis intended, the murder of the couple.

There enters into the affair the element of revenge on the part of Brown, who was discharged by Mohr. Healis said the robbery was planned last Monday. Brown, it is said, fired the shots from ambush. He made his escape. His home is said to be in Roxbury, Mass. Boston police have been requested to pick him up.

Mild Reproof.

"I say, young fellow," said the nervous man to the taxi chauffeur, who was speeding.

"Well?" snapped the chauffeur.

"What is it about me that gave you the impression, that I am in a hurry?"—Detroit Free Press.

Hidden Meanings.

He kissed her.

"Why, stop!" she cried.

And when he failed to repeat she said, "Why stop?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Newspaper Advertising

Goes direct to the people and the people constitute the buying public. Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

The Naval academy court of inquiry in the case of cadets concerned in crooked examination methods recommended due punishment. Sympathy in such cases because the offenders are youths is entirely misplaced. Boys fitting themselves for careers must start right if they hope to end right, which, of course, they do. The late Admiral Sampson's dictum that officers of the navy must be gentlemen was much criticised owing to the way he applied it. It is a fit, however, in this particular instance, for it is here a question of conduct, not of social advantages.

In times of great risk upon the water many people take comfort in the thought that they are able to swim. Of course some of those who can swim may be drowned, but few of those who cannot swim have any chance of surviving a barehanded struggle with the tide. In these days of numerous beaches easily reached there is little excuse for any one not learning to swim.

CHILLICOTHE'S

FALL FESTIVAL

FAME SPREADS

The Fame of the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe grows apace. Many cities throughout the United States have recognized that this is really the most popular form of entertainment, instruction and public education that can be given—to display along the streets of a city the wealth of its production in commerce, industry, art, education, agriculture, and all the allied arts and activities which go to make a community successful. It is such an aggregation which the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe has brought together. The dates this year for the third annual Festival are September 20-25th both inclusive. At that time Chillicothe will be the center of attraction in all Ohio. The governor, lieutenant governor, state officials, and those who want to be state officials will be here on hand; delegations from many big cities will be on hand to learn a lesson from a smaller city and the one mile of displays in attractive booths will furnish a lesson in productivity and activity in all industries of the city and county.

In addition there will be plenty on the light side of life to attract. There will be the great lesson in aerial progress shown by the war maneuvers by aeroplane artists led by Satan Day, the greatest of them all. He will make his flights twice daily showing how the big aerial raids are conducted in the present European war, which we have read so much about. There will be the Great Fussner whose equilibristic feats have never been equalled; there will be parades of all kinds; two great spelling bees; the big Bill Parade; the industrial Parade and hundreds of other attractions which cannot fail to be of interest.

On Wednesday of that week the meeting of the Tenth District of Ohio Medical Association will be held here and 500 doctors from all over Ohio will gather here. So if you are a doctor be sure to be here and bring your family.

It should be borne in mind that the horse events at the Festival this year are open to the world and that the horse show alone is worth your while to come and see. There is not a single line of human industry which will not be demonstrated in the Big Festival this year and the indications are that the biggest crowds ever assembled are going to here. Be one of them; mingle with your neighbors. Come here and meet your friends. Chillicothe will do everything possible to make your stay pleasant and profitable. Remember all these great attractions are entirely free, not a cent of cost to see this, the biggest show ever put out for public instruction.

"Satan Day" the world's famous aerial artist will make two flights daily at the Farmers' Fall Festival at Chillicothe during the week of September 20-25th; will attempt to make a world record for a cross country flight in coming to that city. Mr. Day will fly from Ironton to Chillicothe on Sunday preceding the great Show. During his flights Mr. Day will drop aerial bombs on all the cities over which he passes and the residents of Sciotoville, Piketon, Portsmouth, Waverly and Massieville are preparing to give him a big reception.

The Farmers' Fall Festival is the greatest free show ever given in this country and cities all over America are now giving similar attention to their towns in order to enliven the people. The third annual Festival to be held in Chillicothe this year will be even better than the others, if such a thing is possible and thousands are coming from everywhere. There are fourteen distinct departments in the Farmers' Fall Festival to be given at Chillicothe, week of September 20th and in each one of these the entrance is absolutely free. The farmers are in this manner encouraged in making displays and each year the exhibit becomes larger and larger. Despite the fact that the Association own a mile of display booths, which are turned over to the farmers for their exhibits, it is none too large for them because from all parts of the country they come with their displays and the interest is very keen. For everything that the farmer may produce there is an award and many a home in the country has on display neatly framed a diploma which was won in another year.

Portugal has three large sources of revenue upon which the country depends for its prosperity—the exportation of wines, sardines and corkwood.

ROADS IN CHINA.

They Remind One Very Much of the Snakes in Ireland.

BECAUSE THERE ARE NONE.

What Apologies There Are For Them Are a Great Deal Like the Bed of a Stone Quarry—The Torture That Goes With a Trip in a Peking Cart.

Describing the roads, or, rather, the lack of roads, in China and the torture that is undergone by the tourist who, used to the luxurious modes of travel we may employ, trusts himself to the uncertain joys of a trip in a Peking chair, a writer in the Wide World Magazine says:

"Now, a Peking cart is a very venerable mode of progression. When our ancestors were lightly dressed in woad and had no conception of any wheeled vehicle the Chinese lady was paying her calls in the back of a Peking cart, the seat of honor under the tilt, well out of sight of the passers by, while her servant sat in front, the place of comfort, if such a word can be applied to anything pertaining to a Peking cart.

"In spite of its long and aristocratic record if there is any mode of progression more wearying and uncomfortable I have not met it. It is simply a springless board set on a couple of wheels with a wagon tilt of blue cotton over it and a place for heavy luggage behind. The Chinaman sits on the floor and does not seem to mind, but the ordinary westerner, like myself, packs his bedding and all the cushions he can beg or borrow around him and then resigns himself to his fate.

"The Peking cart has one advantage, people will tell you—it has nothing to break in it. But there are moments when it would be a mighty relief if something did break, for if the woodwork holds together as it tosses you from side to side you yourself are one sore, bruised mass. No; I cannot recommend a Peking cart, even on the smoothest road.

"And the roads in China are not smooth. We all know the description of the snakes in Ireland. 'There are none,' and much the same might be said about the roads in China. There are so called roads, certainly, upon which the people move about, but I have seldom met one that was any better than the surrounding country, and very, very often on this journey I met roads where it was ease and luxury to move off them on to the neighboring plowed field.

"The recipe for a road there in the north seems to be: Take a piece of the country that is really too bad to plow or to use for any agricultural purpose whatever, that a mountain torrent, in fact, has given up as too much for it—take care they never for a moment lie evenly, and you have your road.

"Leaving Peking for the eastern tombs, you go for the first two or three hours along a paved way of magnificent proportions planned and laid out as a highway should be. The great stones with which it is paved were probably put there by slave labor, how many hundred years ago I do not know, but the blocks are uneven now, some of them are gone altogether, though how a huge block of stone could possibly disappear passes my understanding, and whenever the carter could he took the cart down beside the road, where at least the dust made a cushion for the nail studded wheels, and the jarring and the jolting were not quite so terrible.

"It takes as long to get beyond the environs of Peking in a cart as it does to get out of London in a motorcar. First we passed through the Babylonish gate, and the great walls were behind us; then, outside the city, all looking dusty, dirty and khaki colored in the brilliant sunshine, were numerous small houses, and the wayside was lined with booths on which were things for sale.

"Along the roadway came an endless array of people, clad for the most part in blue cotton—men walking, men with loads slung from a bamboo across their shoulders, donkeys laden with baskets or their backs. There were Peking carts, there were mules, there were ponies, and this busy throng is almost the same as it was a couple of thousand years ago.

"But it was a long, long while before I could feel I was really in the country. There was the khaki colored land, there were the khaki colored houses, built of mud apparently, with graceful tiled roofs, and blue clad people everywhere and everywhere at work.

"Always the fields were most beautifully tilled. There were no fences. The Chinese are too civilized to need fences, and when you see stone walls it is only because, since they can't be dropped off the planet into space, the stones must be disposed of somehow."

Paris For Politeness.

Translated rather crudely and literally, this is the notice in a Paris trolley car: "Messieurs the passengers descending from the carriage are urged (literally "prayed"), before renouncing the shelter which the carriage they are about to quit offers them, to assure themselves, as a preliminary, that no carriage coming in the opposite direction is in proximity."

A Turkish Custom.

Upon the graves of the dead in the Turkish cemeteries little vessels of water are placed for the benefit of the birds, and some of the marble tombs have basins chiseled out for the same purpose, the superstition being that birds carry messages about the living to the dead and, like everything else in Turkey, are suspected of being spiteful unless something is done to curry their favor.
